France Joins Britain in Arbitration Stand

ARMS CONFERENCE, CALLED BY LEAGUE, ALSO IS FAVORED

Premier Herriot, as MacDonald, Makes Clear Parley Must Be Called by League of Nations.

AMERICAN ATTITUDE SUBJECT OF COMMENT

Great Events, Believed to Affect Future of World, Occur at Meeting of League of Nations.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Geneva, September 5.—Great events, which, in league of nations circles, it is firmly believed are destined to affect the future of the whole world, including the people of the United States, occurred at today's session of the assembly of the league.

France joined Great Britain in pledging support for the principle of compulsory arbitration and through her premier, Herriot, in removing the doubts of those who feared that France would hesitate to weaken her force as a great continental military power.

M. Herriot announced unequivocally that France favors an international conference on disarmament. In a calm, masterly oration, like that of Premier MacDonald of Great Britain on yesterday, M. Herriot made the men and women present sit in rigid attention.

Speculate on American Attitude.
The premier told the world through the league assembly that henceforth any nation which refused to submit disputes to arbitration would be stigmatized as an aggressor nation.

Tonight, the one supreme topic for speculation among the delegates generally was what the reaction in the last two days in the assembly would have on the United States. Next to definite commitments to the policy of arbitration, one thing stands out clearly: That all France, led by Great Britain and France, now has proclaimed that it is through the league of nations and no other body that the peace of the world must be maintained.

France, like Great Britain, has made it clear that the next disarmament conference must be convened by the league of nations, because it is considered the only body fitted and properly equipped to carry through such a conference.

"If you were to succeed outside the league," declared M. Herriot, "in creating any body to carry on this conference."

HOME WARDS HEAR RIVAL CANDIDATES

Sims Invades Key's Territory and His Opponent Carries Battle Into Mayor's Stronghold

While former Mayor Key Friday night charged Mayor Walter A. Sims, in Sims' home ward, of being party to a deep laid plot to crush the Atlanta public school system, the present mayor, speaking in Key's home ward, was attacking his opponent for "making so many conflicting statements on the issues of this campaign that he has impeached himself and rendered himself unworthy of belief."

Key spoke from the front porch of the Dr. L. N. Huff apartment at 670 Ponce de Leon avenue to about 150 people; Sims spoke from a platform in the back yard of J. L. Warren, at 70 Angier avenue. At about the same number at both meetings a number of other candidates for city, county and state offices spoke. Key also reviewed his candidacy briefly at the close.

The round-the-world fliers have returned home. The variation from the 1492 attempt is rather marked. What fun to watch the world grow. The Constitution is a good mirror, reflecting each step of progress—and itself constantly showing the same progressive tendency.

WILD WEST SHOW OFFERED PERSHING AS SUGGESTED JOB

Washington, September 5.—A proposal that he embark on a wild west show enterprise after his retirement from active service next Friday is among the suggestions made to General Pershing with the approach of the close of his active career in the army.

Details of the wild west show suggestion are not available, but it was learned today that a serious offer of that nature had reached him, from which he derived considerable amusement.

So far as known, General Pershing has no definite plan as to how he will occupy himself when he goes on the retired list. He has been bombarded with offers of various kinds, including proposals that he go into the moving pictures.

So far as known, however, he has given none of them serious consideration.

PEACE IS BROUGHT TO BLOODY HERRIN BY YOUNG OFFICER

'War' Settled Temporarily by Sending Away Sheriff and Deputy Until Passions Cool Off.

Herrin, Ill., September 5.—Captain Harold Bigelow, a brilliant young army officer, has brought temporary peace to the riot-swept hills of "Bloody Williamson County."

Although scarcely out of his twenties, Captain Bigelow was left in command of 16 state guardsmen when fresh outbreaks of violence in the war between the Ku Klux Klan and Klan opponents seemed imminent. Bigelow has "settled" the war—for a time at least—by sending Sheriff George Galligan, chief Klan opponent, and his first deputy, Ora Thomas, out of the county. They are to communicate with him daily to assure Bigelow that they do not return.

Galligan, who has frequently appealed to the governor for aid in keeping the peace in Williamson county, narrowly escaped death in the riot of August 30, when six men were killed and nearly a dozen wounded in Herrin's main street. He has taken Thomas and gone to Pontiac, Ill., where he will be in exile until Bigelow sees fit to have him return.

"The only way to see to keep peace right now is to keep the civil forces apart," Captain Bigelow said, explaining his action in exiling the sheriff.

"One force had to be sent from the county and it is easier to send Galligan, because it would be difficult to select the leader of the Klan forces. At any rate, I am sure the sheriff will cooperate with me by staying away until the danger is past."

Captain Bigelow, whose slight frame seemed not large enough to shoulder the Herculean task of restoring peace when he was left in charge of the state troops by Adjutant General Carlos Black, lost no time in asserting his authority. But he did it with no show of pomp and has won the confidence of both sides in the bitter feud.

"I didn't order Galligan out of the county," Bigelow said. "I simply suggested that he go, and he fell in with my plan readily. If there is any further sign of possible violence, I shall send other people away—possibly members of the other faction."

Alabama Woman Enjoins Removal Of DeMille Film

Mrs. Mattie Thomas Thompson Ties Up "Ten Commandments" Here.

A temporary restraining order, preventing removal from Fulton county of the film copy of Cecil B. DeMille's tremendous feature production, "The Ten Commandments," now showing for the sixth day at the Atlanta theater, was signed Friday afternoon by Judge John Humphries, on petition of Mrs. Mattie Thomas Thompson, of Euftaula, Ala., who declared the scenario was stolen from her. This action, of course, does not prevent showing of the film copies in other sections of the country.

The order signed Friday afternoon also provides that a court's agent be appointed to take charge of the film.

GLOOM IS LIFTING, PEACE SENTIMENT GROWS IN EUROPE

LOOKS CONFIDENTLY TOWARD THE FUTURE

New Spirit Abroad, Greater Freedom, Sincere Desire for Peaceful Cooperation Seen by Financier.

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

The gloom of the past 10 years is lifting in Europe. A new and sublime sentiment of a united Europe, of a common interest in the future, of a disappearance of hatred and of a greater appreciation of conciliation as an instrument of international conduct is finding response in all the chancelleries of Europe. The result of this beneficial change of heart is already evident in the revival of trade, in the speeding up of industries and in the improvement in the relations between the different nations of the continent.

A message to this effect was brought to Atlanta Friday by Herr Hermann Knocke, partner in the prominent European banking house of Hambro & Co., with headquarters in Hamburg, Germany. Herr Knocke arrived in the city Friday and stopped at the Biltmore hotel for a few hours to meet leading southern bankers and cotton merchants before proceeding to New Orleans.

Confident of Future.

The German banker has just visited the great cities of Russia, made a tour of his own country, has met the financiers of Great Britain and the United States, and has received impressions which lead him to regard the future with confidence. Member of the democratic people's party in Germany, he is a liberal in his views, even to the extent of declaring that he had deep respect for the convictions of the communists in Russia and other lands, although entirely disagreeing with their economic theories.

"No progressive can remain cold when he views the remarkable overturn that has come about in the affairs of Europe during the last few months. Europe is simply breathing easier. A tremendous burden has been lifted off the German people, the atmosphere is clarified," he said.

The Dawes plan, supported by such men as Louis Brandeis in France and MacDonald of England.

Perfect Children For Kindergarten In Two Schools

Careful Records Will Be Kept of Work of 112 Youngsters.

Atlanta's first "perfect children" kindergarten classes will open at the Highland and Samuel M. Inman schools Monday morning. It was announced Friday by Superintendent Willis A. Sutton.

Fifty children at Highland and 62 at Samuel M. Inman schools were enrolled Friday on presentation of doctor's, dentist's and nurse's certificates that they are as perfect physically as modern medicine, surgery and feeding methods can make them.

Many other "perfect children" are to be enrolled in the other 50 or more kindergartens but the Highland and Inman schools are to be the only ones with all children in that class.

Eyes, ears, noses, tonsils, teeth, lungs and hearts have been tested; each child weighed and found to conform each to the standard for its age and type and each declared a perfect specimen.

Records are to be kept on the "perfect 112" throughout their school lives in order to determine as nearly as possible how much bearing physical fitness has on progress in studies.

Dr. Sutton said.

All the 112 are under six years of age, the maximum for kindergarten. Preference in assigning seats will be given to those more than five years and six months old and no child under five years old will be admitted to kindergarten.

White grammar school enrollment had reached 23,000 Friday.

ATTEMPT IS MADE TO ASSASSINATE POLISH PRESIDENT

Leunberg, Poland, September 5.—A bomb filled with some malodorous substance was hurled at President Wojciechowski today as he was returning to his automobile from the inauguration ceremonies at the exposition. The bomb missed its target and fell to the ground, exploding when the car was 20 yards away and the president was spared the full force of the odor.

Nearly spectators fled in panic when the bomb was thrown. They seized one of the men who threw it, and the police had difficulty in protecting him from serious harm. The second miscreant escaped in the confusion.

The incident is regarded as having been a tactless manifestation of hostility on the part of the president's political opponents.

TWO AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT VICTIMS DIE AT HOSPITAL

Mrs. Dollie C. Summers Is Second Fatality in Wreck Near Lovejoy. Everett Martin Killed.

Two persons died Friday from injuries received in automobile accidents. They were Mrs. Dollie C. Summers, 50, well-known Barnesville woman, and 13-year-old Everett Johnson Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Martin, of Center Hill.

Mrs. Summers was the second to die as a result of the accident Thursday at Lovejoy when a heavy touring car overturned, injuring six women. The first was Mrs. Ella M. Howard, 58, wife of W. M. Howard, of Barnesville, who died shortly before midnight Thursday.

Injured Internally.

Both Mrs. Summers and Mrs. Howard, who were pinned beneath the wrecked car, were hurt internally, surgeons at the Wesley Memorial hospital stated.

Others hurt in the same accident were Mrs. Henry Katherine Birdson, of Barnesville, daughter of Mrs. Summers and driver of the car; Mrs. Annie Anderson, of Barnesville, daughter of Mrs. Howard; Mrs. W. Stafford, of Barnesville, and Mrs. W. E. Davidson, of 1422 Peachtree road, Atlanta. Friday night they were resting comfortably and their early recovery was anticipated.

Boy Crushed to Death.

The little Martin boy was crushed to death under the wheels of a heavy motor truck just before 8 o'clock Friday morning, at Decatur and Ivy streets. The driver of the truck, Norman Brice, a negro, was arrested and held in default of a $2,000 bond, under charge of reckless driving.

The accident, which was witnessed by nearly a dozen people, was reported to have been unavoidable. The boy, it is stated, had nearly crossed Decatur street when some one called or whistled to him. He turned suddenly and walked into the path of the oncoming truck, which was so close to him that the driver did not have time to stop.

Unconscious, the youth was rushed to the Grady hospital where he died on the operating table. He remained at the hospital unidentified until nearly noon, when an uncle, R. M. Cleveland, of 118 Adair avenue, Decatur, an employee of the Southern Bell, was notified.

His body was removed to the chapel of Harry G. Poole, who will have charge of funeral arrangements. In addition to his parents he is

"Miss Atlanta" Now Heads SECTIONAL WINNERS WILL COMPETE TODAY Southern Division Beauties

BY LOYD WILHOIT.
Atlantic City, N. J., September 5.—(Special.)—Having won her way to the charmed circle of the 10 most beautiful girls in America in evening costume, Miss Estelle Bradley, Atlanta's representative in the national beauty pageant here, today forged forward and became one of five leading candidates for the crown of "Miss America," recognized beauty queen of America.

"Miss Atlanta" made a second spectacular public appearance on the boardwalk today in the national beauty pageant to determine "Miss America." Following the gorgeous event, the judges pronounced her winner of first place in the southern division.

Five geographical divisions are included in the integrity contest, which means that "Miss Atlanta" and winners of the other four sectional divisions are now foremost contenders for the acceptance of the national beauty queen, Miss Katherine Campbell, of Columbus, Ohio. One of these five leaders must defeat Miss Campbell if "Miss America's" title is to change hands this year.

Winners in Sections.

Winners of the four other sectional divisions were as follows:

New York and New England—First, "Miss Manhattan"; second, "Miss Greater New York"; third, "Miss Hoboken."

Middle Atlantic—First, "Miss

PROPHETS DISCARD EFFECTS OF ISSUES

Blind Desire Too Often Colors Glass Through Which Observers Look Over Situation.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.
Washington, September 5.—The open season for exaggerated election predictions has set in, to be with us until November 4. This is the most uncertain presidential election in years and anything is apt to happen in the intervening two months. But that fact fails to give pause to the various campaign organizations.

One border state senator goes up to Minnesota to make a stump speech or two and comes tearing down to Washington to say the president is sure to carry Minnesota and that Magnus Johnson is licked. A La Follette aide gives Coolidge two states west of the Mississippi, Utah and Nevada. We learn from a prominent democratic leader that Pennsylvania is safe for Davis. No less an authority than Chairman Butler, of the republican national committee, announces that La Follette is going to lose not only Minnesota and the Dakotas, but probably faithful old Wisconsin.

Shaver Is Good Claimer.

Chairman Shaver, of the democratic national committee, retorts that La Follette will carry all of these states and a lot more, taking care, however, to stake out a good share for Davis at the same time. A lame duck senator comes hobbling in to announce that his state is going for Coolidge. A Wilson ex-officer huddles here and there, promising to capture his quota of rock-ribbed republican terrain.

One glaring exception has turned up, however. Jonett Shouse, former democratic congressman from Kansas, arrived here and failed to claim that his party is on top in his home state. He said frankly that if the election were held now, Coolidge would probably win. But he says his state wants to give Davis a hearing and he believes the voters there are in a receptive mood toward the democratic candidate.

Most of Talk Is Bunk.

But most of the talk is pure political bunk, blindly partisan and skillfully larded out as alleged news. Some elections can be forecast with a fair degree of accuracy. One well-known editor still does business on the reputation as a political prophet which he gained by predicting the two states that went for Taft in 1912.

But a glance at the cross-currents which are at play now is sufficient to indicate the utter futility of predicting what is going to happen two months hence. Nobody knows how the Klau vote is going to operate. Will the Oklahoma Klan democrats, for instance, scratch Walton and vote for Davis? Will the negroes who are so powerful as a bloc in Indiana flip bodily to the democratic state ticket because of the alliance between the

FISHING INDUSTRY BEING DESTROYED, CLAIMS HOOVER

Atlantic City, N. J., September 5.—America is blindly, without regard to the stability of the industry and without sense of responsibility to future generations, destroying the fisheries of its bays and adjacent coasts. Secretary Hoover declared in an address here tonight before the sixth annual convention of the United States Fisheries association. The secretary asserted that unless the condition is remedied a constantly depleted species ultimately will reach a point of exhaustion from which there is no recovery.

To stem the wholesale destruction of the species, Secretary Hoover recommended centralization of control of coastal fisheries in interstate commissions, to be created with congressional approval.

BROTHERS ADMIT SLAYING HARRELL CLAIM OFFICERS

Tracey and Lewis Powers Confess Crime Under Grilling After Bones Point to Solution.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Dillon, S. C., September 5.—With the finding of fragments of charred human bones and teeth in a swamp near here, and the arrest of two men, the mystery of the disappearance on August 22 of Earle Harrell, 18-year-old Dillon county farmer, has been solved, according to officials.

Tracey and Lewis Powers, brothers living in the lower part of the county, have been lodged in jail on charges of murder, and are said to have confessed to the killing of Young Harrell, and to burning of his body.

In their reported confession, the Powers brothers are alleged to have said that two women were involved in the circumstances that led up to the killing.

Used Forest Furnace.

The wife of Tracey Powers is declared in his confession, according to officers, to have been the recipient of attentions from Harrell. Another woman, whose name was not given, was said to have been at the Powers home on the night of the killing.

Harrell went to the Powers home on the night of August 22 and was never seen again, officers said they learned in their efforts to trace the young man when he was reported missing.

State Detective W. W. Rodgers was assigned to the case by Governor Thomas G. McLeod when local officials requested assistance in clearing up the mystery.

Rodgers, it was said today, learned that the tobacco store house and barn on the Powers place had been burned down on the night Harrell vanished. A careful search of the ashes revealed what appeared to be bits of flesh, but no bones, it was reported. Searching further, Detective Rodgers and local officials found an improvised furnace in the hollow of a cypress tree in a nearby swamp, and sifting the ashes in the furnace, they discovered the fragments of bone and teeth.

Powers Did Shooting.

The Powers brothers were arrested and after a severe questioning, officers declared, they broke down and confessed.

Tracey Powers, according to the account of his confession current here, admitted shooting Harrell to death, but warrants were issued charging both him and his brother with the crime, and Detective Rodgers announced, indictments for murder will be asked against both of them when the grand jury meets next Wednesday.

Harrell went to the Powers home accompanied by the unnamed woman on the night of August 22. Tracey Powers' confession is said to have related. During the night a quarrel resulted when Harrell took offense at a remark made by Tracey Powers about his companion, the confession continued, and the shooting was a sequel to this quarrel.

Mrs. Powers, about whom her husband had blood had existed between himself and Young Harrell, for some time, was not at home on the night of the killing, having gone to the home of relatives in North Carolina about three days previously. It is reported here.

DOCTOR SLAYS YOUTH ON ACCOUNT OF WIFE

Helena, Ark., September 5.—Edward Ligon, 20, of Melwood, was shot and instantly killed by Dr. J. A. King, also of Melwood, in the Phillips county court house here late today.

The shooting, which occurred in the sheriff's office, was said to have been the culmination of Ligon's alleged association with Mrs. King, against whom Dr. King recently filed divorce proceedings. Ligon was named co-respondent in the divorce bill.

King surrendered to the sheriff and was lodged in jail pending a hearing.

Great Powers Establish Proscribed Zone About City—Day of Skirmishes Devoid of Result.

London, September 5.—General Lu Yung-Hsiang, in a lengthy manifesto, has declared war upon President Tsao Kun, of the Peking government, according to a message from Shanghai received here by The Times.

Lu's manifesto denounces Tsao as an "illegal president and arch robber." This manifesto is believed to be the preliminary to the participation of Chang-Tsao Lin in the war in which Lu already is engaged. If Chang leads his large armies into the field it is believed that the situation would become very serious.

WARN BATTLERS TO STAY OUT.

London, September 5.—The great powers have warned the warring factions, who are settling their arguments within sound of Shanghai, to keep their war away from that city.

A sharp note sent to both sides has notified the Chinese generals that the powers will not permit the war to encroach upon Shanghai, according to a dispatch received here by The Times. The generals have been ordered to keep their armies outside a proscribed zone stretching from the Wousong forts, below Shanghai, to the Kiangnan arsenal, above the city.

Shanghai, September 5.—Fighting ceased along the entire battle front outside Shanghai shortly before midnight Friday after the attacking troops had failed to break the line of the city's defenders.

Swimming Pool Presented Club By Mrs. Sharpe

Addition to Woman's Club Facilities Due to President's Work.

Plans for installation of a handsome swimming pool, with all modern facilities, to be located by the side of the auditorium of the Atlanta Woman's club, at its home, 946 Peachtree street, were announced Friday to the executive board of that organization by Mrs. Norman Sharpe, president.

The addition to the club will be practically the gift of Mrs. Sharpe, since she has devoted her entire summer to the work of raising funds and obtaining material for this work from friends of the club. At present material worth approximately $5,000 is on hand, and sufficient cash to complete the improvement.

The pool will be the property of the Woman's club, and will be a facsimile of the beautiful pool at the Piedmont Driving club, according to Mrs. Sharpe. It is planned to have the pool completed by next spring, it was said, and its use will be limited to the members of the club and their daughters.

It is believed, Mrs. Sharpe told members of the executive board, that installation of the pool not only will prove a valuable asset to the club from a social standpoint, but also will be a splendid source of revenue to that organization.

Mrs. Sharpe declared in her formal message when she took office as president of the Woman's club that the keynote of her administration would be motherhood training and development of the child, and establishment of the proposed pool is one step toward this end.

The executive board accepted announcement of plans for the pool with appreciation for the work of Mrs. Sharpe.

SEN. HARRIS CITES SEVEN ESSENTIALS TO AID FARMER

Marietta, Ga., September 5.—Speaking at a luncheon of the Rotary club here today, Senator William J. Harris asserted that seven essential things are needed by the farmers of Georgia in order for them to make a living. They are cheaper freight rates on all farm products, cheaper parcel post rates on farm products, cheaper fertilizers, cheaper calcium arsenate, protection on peanuts, cotton seed oil and all vegetable oils, a law that will put in jail those connected with exchanges gambling in cotton futures, and a better federal marketing system for farm products in cooperation with the state market bureau, he said.

"Cheaper fertilizers is the aim of those behind the fight to develop the Muscle Shoals project, and I want to see it used as intended by President Wilson when he started the project," he declared.

"The government is already at work making experiments to find cheaper methods of making calcium arsenate and locating arsenic ore deposits from which calcium arsenate is made," continued the Georgia senator. "This work is being done under appropriations I secured at the last congress."

"Freight rates must come down on farm products, and they are now so high on some products that the farmer, after paying the freight, has nothing left for his own work. The farmer then must stop shipping these products, and it hurts both the railroads and the farmers. Lower freight rates would bring a living profit to the farmer, and increase the business of the railroads."

AMERICUS WOMEN QUIZ CANDIDATES FOR SOLICITOR'S JOB

Americus, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—The League of Women Voters of Americus, of which Mrs. Henry O. Jones is president, and Mrs. Henry Clay is secretary, has addressed a joint questionnaire to Steve Pace, of Americus, and Julie Felton, of Montezuma, who are opposing candidates in the solicitor's race, the only office being contested in Sumter county. The questionnaire the women ask specifically if there exists any influence in behalf of the candidacy of either that might influence their enforcement of existing prohibition laws; whether or not anyone has contributed to their campaign funds, and if so, the names of the person or persons so contributing; what has been the past and constitutes the present attitude of the candidate toward woman suffrage; what experience and qualifications each possess for the office they aspire to; whether or not either is a member of the Ku Klux Klan, or ever has been a member.

It is anticipated that replies will be made by both candidates. Announcement of action of the women has created the first interest yet manifested in the coming primary.

SEARCHLIGHT TRAPS
STOP INSECT PLAGUE

Breslau, Silesia, September 5.—Searchlight traps to rid the country of a plague of insects have been tried out successfully along the German-Polish frontier, where the great pine forests suffered from the ravages of swarms of caterpillars, the larvae of a species of nocturnal moth. Searchlights were set up at night at points in and near the forests, attracting the moths in myriad numbers and luring them into the powerful rays of light near the incandescent carbons, where they were cremated by the millions. In some instances electric fans were used to whirl the moths into the "flame" and bring about quicker results.

The light traps are to be used in other parts of Germany where the pest has appeared.

Jerky Sentences Tell Story
OF FLIERS' ROUND WORLD TRIPBY OTIS PLABODY SWIFT.
(Copyright, 1924, by United News.)

Boston, September 5.—Six young American airmen, picked up from the relatively mild thrills of stunt flying and routine jobs at home aviation fields and hurled into a "round-the-world dash, whose vivid pictures appeal the imagination, were talking over their trip.

They sat in the steel walled ward-room of the light cruiser Richmond, anchored above the submarine graveyard of the German navy at Scapa Flow, Orkney Islands. In from a day's flying above fog-bound Scotland, they were delighted to smoke Yankee cigarettes again, to hear Yankee jazz on the phonograph—"Somebody Stole My Gal." Through the gently rising and falling portholes came the light of a heliotrope night sky, the outlines of barren, treeless hills.

The airmen didn't want to talk of their adventures. But their new-found friends prodded them with questions. Cigar and cigarette butts glowed. Soft-footed Filipinos brought coffee. And strange stories were told. Many of them were whispered, lest the hero of the particular exploit hear.

"We came into this place in India. The officials there had fixed everything fine. There was going to be a banquet for us, and they had a house ready, and everything. But somehow they'd got the idea that some of us were officers and some were enlisted men."

"So one local officer came up to Smith and said: 'We've got motor cars ready for you, and a banquet for your officers, and a special house for your officers. And we've fixed up a cabin over there where your enlisted men can stay.'"

"Smith, he just looked at that officer a minute, and answered: 'We haven't any enlisted men with us, but if we had, we'd go stop in the same cabin with them.'"

"There was another big banquet down at Singapore. Everyone was in full dress, despite the heat, and everyone made important speeches. The mayor made a speech, and some high naval officers made speeches. "Then somehow, into this gang of gold lace, there stumbled a common, ordinary garden-variety of Yankee sailor. Very tight. Somehow he slumped into a seat at the table, sitting sort of dazed a minute. Then he staggered to his feet and coughed. "Gentlemen?" he cried, "everybody's making speeches. I got something I wanna say."

"A two and a half striper hurried over to him, laid a restraining hand on his shoulder. "Young man, what was it you wanted to say?" He asked coldly. "The job looked at him hazily a moment, then suddenly he was cold sober. He smiled weakly. "Er—I jess wanted to say good-night, sir. He answered, backing out of the room."

"Heat? It was—it was hot in India. It was 150 degrees on the flying field when we came into Milton. It was 110 in the room I tried to sleep in that night. Take a bath—shucks—you just stood up and waved your arms a couple of times and then wiped yourself off with a towel."

"Those dust storms are mean things, blowing so thick off the desert you couldn't see the next plane. Another thing was the flocks of birds, buzzards, I think. So many of them that we had to steer the planes above them for fear they'd block the way. Had that trouble in India, and the same thing in that place 'Bird Island'—up off Japan. They were seagulls up there, I think."

"Got funny superstitions, those Chinese. The junkmen in Shanghai believe that evil spirits sort of gather around them at daybreak, and that the only way to dodge them is to sail their junk, quickly, across the bows of a rapidly moving boat. They come as close as they can, skim right under your bow, and turn around and grin at you, knowing that you're come in between them and their personal devils, and that they've lost the devils for the day—and you've got them."

"They were always cutting across the bows of the destroyers that way, and tried to do the same with the planes. I didn't mind taking their devils for them, but I was mighty afraid the fools would force a collision on me."

"I got a scare up there in Alaska. We were in a harbor and a ship came along-side with a crane, to lift the plane out onto the dock. I sat on the end of the boom as they hoisted the plane out. The boom kept going up and up, me sitting on the end of it. Say—I can walk around the wings, all over the plane, at any old altitude, but it made me shakysitting there on that boom 90 feet above the water. Funny how some things get you and some don't."

"We don't mind wind as much as lack of visibility. One time running up from Sitka we went through fog 45 minutes without getting a glimpse of the other planes. You can imagine what it is—hammering along at 100 miles an hour through blank white wetness, not knowing what moment one of the other three is coming crashing out of that wall in front of you."

So the snatches of conversation went on, the questioners even eager for more, the fliers explaining, modestly, briefly, in disjointed phrases, without color. Through the quiet of that gently rocking wardroom shone pictures—a jumble of kaleidoscopic scenes in bold relief.

One saw ice-capped Alaskan mountains merge to gray wastes of storm-tossed un-Alaskan islands. "Not a plant growing there—not even an insect living there." One saw the night scene when the planes, in a storm, anchored off frozen Komorowski Island—"The Russians were real nice—they hadn't made arrangements of course, and they couldn't let us stay more than 24 hours—but they came off in a small boat—all their chief men—and explained that when the 24 hours was up we could taxi out to the three-mile limit and just taxi in again for another 24."

Fog above the coasts of Japan; all Japan seen as a solid floor of black fog—"looked like you could land on it." Junks and sampans crowding the harbor of Shanghai. A steaming jungle down in French Indo China, a land-locked lagoon—South equating on the rim of his broken plane curious natives in clustering sampans, Arnold plodding inland through sweltering heat to the home of a Catholic priest who had drinking water.

Cigarette butts glowed. A young naval officer cranked the phonograph. Crashing back from the steel walls of the ward room came the blaring notes "California—Here I Come!" "Boy," said the youngest flier, "when we got to Santa Monica—"

RHINOCEROS BONES
FOUND IN ROCKS

Chicago, September 5.—A 3,000-year-old skeleton of a giant rhinoceros has been found at Vantassel, Wyo., by Dr. Paul Miller, curator at Walker Museum, University of Chicago. It was made public yesterday.

Curator Miller recently returned from a two months' expedition and fossil hunt in the western state.

The bones, embedded in rock, are supposed to be the bones of the Miocene period, where Dr. Miller will dig them out and put them together for purposes of study and exhibition.

WALLACE STATEMENT
RIDDLED BY SHAVER

Washington, September 5.—Edaying the assertion of Secretary Wallace, in a statement yesterday, that the plight of the farmers during the past four years was due to a deflation policy launched by the democratic administration, Chairman Shaver, of the democratic national committee, declared in a statement tonight, that it was due to the "deflation policy of deflation pursued by the republicans themselves."

"It is apparent," Mr. Shaver said, "that the exigencies of partisan politics have pressed Secretary Wallace to reverse and stultify himself in the statement he issued on September 4, charging the last democratic administration with responsibility for the deflation of agricultural prices."

Citing what he constituted the "written record" of republican "culpability," Mr. Shaver first recalled the resolution of Senator McCormick, republican, Illinois, adopted by a republican congress during the last session of the Wilson administration, asking that the federal reserve board advise the senate what steps it proposed taking to meet existing inflation. He cited the plank of the 1920 republican platform, declaring for deflation and former President Harding's speech accepting the republican nomination in which he took the same stand.

SHERIFF IS WELL
AFTER OPERATION,
19 TRANSFUSIONS

Memphis, Tenn., September 5.—After 19 blood transfusions had failed to cure him, J. A. Donahue, a deputy sheriff of Earl, Ark., left a hospital here today, apparently fully recovered from an operation to which he submitted in an effort to check a malady which physicians said they had been unable to diagnose.

Hospital attendants said Donahue apparently was well on the road to recovery. He was afflicted, physicians said, with what seemed to be "an incurable anemia."

The 19 blood transfusions were administered during a period of 18 months, relatives and residents of the community in which Donahue lives giving their blood in the efforts to save his life. Donahue's niece, Mrs. T. R. Pierce, of Parkin, Ark., gave the blood for eight transfusions.

JAPANESE CAPTAIN
KILLS SELF, WIFE
AFTER CRITICISM

Tokio, September 5.—Captain Kato, of the steamer Shimo Maru, killed himself and wife here because of criticism heaped upon the officer following the collision between his vessel and the Tairei Maru off Hokkaido several months ago.

MEXICAN SCHOOLS CLOSED BY STRIKE
AMONG TEACHERS

Nogales, Sonora, Mexico, September 5.—Public schools throughout the state of Sonora are closed as the result of a general strike proclaimed by school teachers.

The strike went into effect when the state failed to meet demands of the teachers for salaries due, amounting to approximately 100,000 pesos, or to make provisional guarantees for flat payments. The schools were scheduled to open September 1. Many of the teachers have received no salaries for last year's work.

LIBERAL CHRISTIANS
OPEN CHURCH SUNDAY

The Liberal Christian church will reopen Sunday after two months' vacation. During the summer the interior of the building has been thoroughly renovated. New electric lights have been provided. The church is a small one, but a gem of architectural design and finish.

Sunday there will be a special musical program under the direction of the organist, Miss Clara Harden. Mrs. Ernest C. Bell will sing and Mr. Pomar, leader of the Biltmore orchestra, will accompany with a violin obligato. The Rev. E. E. Bowdler will preach. His subject will be "The Faith That Sustains."

September 18-21 the church will entertain the Georgia Universalist convention. This is expected to be a great rallying time for all the religious liberals of the south.

GENERAL J. B. SANBORN
WEDS MISS W. A. WICK

Chicago, September 5.—Major General Joseph B. Sanborn, the hero of Chipilly Ridge, who led Chicago's "Dandy First," then the 131st United States infantry, to victory in France, was quietly married yesterday to Miss Willa Alice Wick. The bride is a sister of Mrs. Helen Wick Bliss, widow of the late Colonel Samuel E. Bliss, steel magnate.

General Sanborn was 62 years old at the time of his distinguished world war service.

The new Mrs. Sanborn is 49 years old. The general's first wife, Mrs. Julie Flanders Sanborn, died January 27, 1921.

TRAVELED 3 BLOCKS;
STOLE 3 AUTOMOBILES

Los Angeles, September 5.—Three blocks Fred de Armon traveled, and in each block he stole an automobile, was testified at his preliminary hearing here today on a charge of grand larceny. The first car he stole crashed into another before he had gone a block, according to witnesses; the second was out of gasoline just after he got it started; the third was taken away from him by a policeman who, by that time, and learned what was going on in the neighborhood. He was held for trial in superior court under $3,000 bail.

BANDITS ROB BANK AND KIDNAP FARMER

Moherly, Mo., September 5.—Three young bandits early this afternoon held up the Farmers and Merchants Bank at La Plata, Mo., took a small amount of money and kidnaping Fred Wolf, a farmer depositor, escaped in an automobile.

'SMILING BANDIT' INDICTED BY JURY

While 19-year-old William Neale, styled by county police "The Smiling Boy Burglar," accompanied a detail of officers about the Peachtree Hill section Friday, pointing out various homes he had robbed, the Fulton county grand jury was hearing evidence against him and returned a true bill charging the youth with burglarizing six residences.

Homes, for the robbery of which Neale was indicted, were as follows: Harry L. Burns, J. A. Kahler, F. R. Campbell, R. C. Kreiling, A. R. Tate and J. Burt Moore.

County police state that the youth has admitted entering approximately 25 houses.

In a statement made to the arresting officers, the boy is said to have attributed his downfall to bad company—a man he met casually at one of the parks, who, under the pretext of visiting some girls, involved the boy in a robbery expedition.

Later the man, Neale states, began teasing him by saying that he (Neale) didn't have nerve enough to try to burglarize a house and his first robbery was to show the man that he was as "game" as any one. Police are searching for the man Neale described.

Corporations Given Until October 15 To File Tax Returns

J. T. Rose, collector of internal revenue, announced Friday that partnership, fiduciary, and corporation tax returns may be filed up to October 15 by firms whose fiscal years end on the last day of January, February, March, April, May or June. He explained that the extension in cases of corporations is granted on condition that a tentative tax return be filed and one-fourth of the estimated tax due be paid on the date originally set for filing of the complete return.

Many Questions Sent to Princess Wahletka Friday

Hundreds of letters reached the office of Loew's Grand theater Friday, the first consignment of questions addressed to Princess Wahletka, psychic marvel, who will appear at the theater next week, and who will also answer questions of Atlantans through the columns of The Atlanta Constitution.

Every letter received is being saved for Princess Wahletka, who will select a number each day at random and give her answers to them.

The letters came from Atlanta, points in Georgia and from states adjoining, and from the handwriting and color of the envelopes it appears that the women are in the majority as questioners. However, some are typewritten, which seems to prove that men also are seeking the answer to some questions which, no doubt, are vital to their future happiness.

Any question, no matter of what nature, may be sent to Princess Wahletka, and the only stipulation is that the sender of the question be sincere.

Princess Wahletka, who will appear at Loew's Grand all of next week, is from the Cherokee tribe of Indians, and a granddaughter of Minnie Spy Back, chief medicine man at one time of the Cherokees. She first discovered her psychic powers when a child.

Princess Wahletka was sent to school by the Cherokee chiefs and finished her education at Carleton university. She has gained international reputation with her predictions and forecasts of great events, among them being the prediction of the death of Harding, the Japanese earthquake and the nomination of John W. Davis.

Anyone may send a question to Princess Wahletka by writing it on a plain piece of paper, and give the correct name and address. The name or address, however, will not be used when the question and answer are printed in The Constitution. Only the initials of the questioner will be used so that no embarrassment will be caused. All letters should be addressed directly to Princess Wahletka, care of Loew's Grand Theater, Atlanta.

Yaarab's Team To Meet Abba In Game Today

When the Yaarab Shriners of Atlanta meet the Abba temple, of Mobile, Ala., this afternoon in a baseball game at Spiller's park one of the largest crowds ever to witness a benefit baseball game is expected to be present.

In addition to the ball game Atlantans will have the privilege of seeing the Twenty-second infantry from Fort McPherson, which will attend the contest in a body. The drill team will stage an exhibition in front of the grandstand at 2:45 o'clock, and the game will begin immediately following the drill.

Yaarab's temple recently defeated Abba temple on the latter's home ground in Mobile, and a great battle is expected this afternoon. "It's going to be a regular ball game," officials declare, "not a burlesque."

Following the game visiting shriners will be entertained with a dinner by the Yaarab team at the Ansley hotel, followed by a dance.

While preparations for the game were under way the membership of Yaarab and their families spent the day Friday at Lakewood park. The occasion was their annual picnic, and thousands were in attendance.

DESPITE NEW LAW MARRIAGE LICENSE WILL COST SAME

The cost of obtaining marriage licenses was raised by the recently enacted state law, it was learned Friday, but Judge Thomas H. Jeffries, ordinary of Fulton county, will not hike the expense in this county, he said.

The new law makes it necessary for applicants for marriage licenses to make affidavits as to their age, parentage, residence and various other matters. For this service, the ordinaries are allowed to charge 50 cents. When the certificate of the ordinary costs another 75 cents and, if he is so inclined, he may affix his seal and tack on another 75 cents charge, making the total $4.25, or $3.50 without the seal.

Under the old law, the cost of the license was $2.25, but Judge Jeffries asserts he will stick to the old price.

ATLANTA BAPTIST PASTORS RESUME MEETINGS MONDAY

The Atlanta Baptist Ministers' conference will resume its weekly meetings at the First Baptist church at 10 o'clock Monday after the summer vacation.

Dr. L. B. Cranford is president and R. K. Redwine secretary. The program committee, consisting of Sam C. Cowan, W. H. Faust and H. T. Brookshire, have arranged an interesting series of discussions for the fall term. Monday the subject will be the vacation experiences of the ministers and the reception of new members into the body.

Among the new pastors to be received will be Dr. Luke Rader, newly-elected pastor of the Central Baptist church, and Dr. W. L. Culbertson, new minister of the Cascade Baptist church.

FAIR AND COOLER WEATHER IS SEEN FOR CITY TODAY

Fair and cool weather, with temperature about the same as that of Friday, is the prediction for Atlanta Saturday by C. F. von Herrmann, head of the local weather bureau. The maximum temperature will not exceed 83 degrees, it is predicted.

The cool weather, Mr. von Herrmann believes, will continue until Monday, at least, with no rain in prospect. Friday's maximum temperature was 80, while the minimum temperature was 65 degrees.

DAVIS-BRYAN CLUB OF ATLANTA GIVEN THANKS BY DAVIS

The Atlanta Davis-Bryan club, the first to be organized in the United States following nomination of John W. Davis for president, was thanked for its activity by the democratic candidate in a letter received Friday by Mrs. Edgar Alexander, national committeewoman for Georgia.

The letter follows:
"Dear Mrs. Alexander:
May I extend through you to the members of the Davis and Bryan club of Atlanta, my thanks for your warm message informing me of the organization of the club. I am grateful for all work you are doing and I trust I may merit the support of every member. Sincerely,

MRS. LIPSTINE DIES AT LOCAL HOSPITAL

Mrs. Isaac Lipstine, wife of Isaac Lipstine, president of the Carlton Shoe & Clothing company, died at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Lipstine suffered an attack of appendicitis at her Peachtree road home Monday and was rushed to a private hospital. Following an operation Tuesday her condition grew worse, the end coming Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Lipstine was widely known in Atlanta, having been in business here for a number of years before her marriage to Mr. Lipstine. She was prominent in church and social circles of the city, having been an active worker in the Peachtree Road Presbyterian church and a leader in the North Peachtree Women's club.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Lipstine was Miss Jane C. Morrison. She was born in Montreal, Canada.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. D. D. Grant, of British Columbia; a brother, Duncan Morrison, of Port Huron, Mich.; and a niece, Miss Mary Morrison, who has made her home with the Lipstine family here.

The Carlton Shoe & Clothing company on Whitehall street was closed Friday.

The body was taken to the undertaking establishment of H. M. Patterson & Son. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

HUSBAND AND WIFE WANTED DIVORCES IN DOUBLE SUITS

When both parties involved in a divorce suit, and the attorneys representing the two parties, all live on the same block in the same street, the question which would quite naturally be asked when the case reached the courts would be "What does the neighborhood think of it all?"

Paul H. Wingard, of 513 Washington street, sued his wife, Mrs. Catherine Wingard, for divorce. She resides at 528 Washington street. Wingard retained Lawyer James L. Moore, of 519 Washington street. Mrs. Wingard filed a cross-bill, seeking a divorce on her own part, retaining as her lawyer Claude D. Rowe, of 519 Washington street.

When the case came to trial on the docket action before Judge W. D. Ellis, in Fulton superior court, the question was put. Attorney Rowe called as a witness Attorney Moore. Said he: "Will you say that Mrs. Wingard does not stand high in the regard of the community in which she lives?"

Attorney Moore protested and appealed to the judge, who ruled that it was a proper question. Attorney Moore responded that Mrs. Wingard undoubtedly stood high in the regard of her neighbors.

The jury returned a verdict granting a divorce to both Wingard and his wife, and giving Mrs. Wingard alimony of $50 a month.

FULTON SCHOOLS SHOW INCREASE IN ATTENDANCE

Reports from individual schools indicate that there was an increase of approximately 1,000 over the enrollment of 9,000 of last year when Fulton county schools, including forty-six grammar schools and one high school, opened Friday morning for registration of pupils and distribution of book lists.

Reports also show that there will be a record attendance when the fall term begins Monday.

Increase in number this year undoubtedly will cause a congestion, and may result in double sessions being instituted, it was said.

Carhartt Leaves City Following Inspection Of Branch Plant Here

Hamilton Carhartt, head of the large chain of oil barrel factories which bears his name, left Atlanta Friday afternoon for his main offices, after being entertained by the chamber of commerce and other civic organizations while on a short visit to the company's local branch factory.

Stellar Woman Performer Plays With Big Clown Bear

There are all sorts of interesting things for the girl performers with Sells-Floto circus to do when they are not working in their acts and Bee Starr, finds "Prince," the star brui in "The Bride and the Beasts," the gorgeous opening lyrical spectacle of the show, a wonderful yet affectionate, playful, with a gift for the snappy retort, expressed with quick shoves of his clownish snout.

When Sells-Floto comes to Atlanta Friday and Saturday, September 12 and 13, at Spiller's park, you'll see the two stars, Bee and Prince. Bee Starr is one of the nine girl aerial fliers in the two Edward Ward troupes and she is known on the lot as "The Shooting Starr," while Prince stars in the great spectacle and in the menagerie, especially when someone comes along with crackerjack. Prince is an old trouper, and he's been eating crackerjack for years, but never has he had half enough. There are grizzlies, brown bears, black bears, Siberian bears and polar bears in the Sells-Floto wild animal acts this year—over forty of 'em.

Charges Contradictions.

The declaration that former Mayor Key has contradicted himself so often in the present mayoralty contest as to impeach himself and forfeit his claim upon the confidence of Atlanta voters, was one of the principal claims made by Mayor Walter Sims, at the meeting of the Key's ward.

He also charged that Key is not the "real candidate" opposing him, but a "political clique" of his real opponent, and "Key is simply dressed up as their representative."

"In one breath," said the mayor, "my opponent says he's for schools, and in the next breath he criticizes the revenue that runs the schools."

In one breath he said he left no deficit when he quit office, and another time he admits he left a deficit of $800,000, and later he changed that and says it was $62,000.

"He's made so many contradictory statements already during this campaign that if he were a witness on the stand in court he would be impeached by his own statements."

Mayor Sims submitted to the crowd a financial statement by the city controller bearing out the mayor's repeated assertion that when Key quit office he left the treasury a cash deficit of $850,000.

Turning attention to Key's entry into the race, he termed him a "nominal candidate."

"My opponent," said the mayor, "asserts he is not running against me. Well, I'm not running against him. He's not the real candidate. The real candidate is the gang I fought two years ago."

The mayor summed up the record of his predecessor's public improvements as a public comfort station in front of the city hall, and two fire stations, and the present administration is equipping one of them," he added.

"That's the men who stated from the stump that he was the best mayor Atlanta ever had," continued the speaker. "A man with that much ego is too small to be mayor of Buckhead."

"Key's a regular Andy Gump," spoke up a voice from the audience.

"Key says: 'You ought to vote for me. I'm such a great friend to the schools.' The men who went on 'That's the same kind of a self-confession that he made in Kirkwood when he proclaimed himself Atlanta's greatest mayor.'"

Attacks Key's Claims.

A vigorous attack upon Key's reported claim that he was instrumental in arranging the loan from the banks last year to tide the schools over the present year, was launched by Mayor Sims. According to the mayor, Key had been quoted as saying that he had arranged with two banks to assist the schools.

"Every bank, except one, had agreed not to let the board of education have the money," asserted the mayor. "A bank which went on this line told me so. He is supporting Key today, and he is the same man who announced a determination to enjoin the city from paying a loan he borrowed from the banks for schools this year."

The mayor asserted that an official of the Citizens and Southern bank, from whom the 1923 loan was obtained, told him that he realized there were "politics" in the threatened closing of the schools, and said: "They are trying to put you in the hole and discredit your administration."

"Got Caught Again."

The same effort was repeated again this year, the mayor charged, "but they got caught again at their own game," he shouted. "Key and his crowd tried to bring him down by saying they close the schools as a political trick, but they got caught in their own trap."

The mayor spoke to a crowd of approximately 125 people. J. L. Warren, at whose home the meeting was held, introduced the speaker. Several candidates for municipal and county office addressed the meeting following the mayor's speech.

Key Charges Plot.

Key's charges of a plot to crush the schools was made at his meeting in the mayor's ward in connection with a review of his activities and Sims' activities in connection with the school department. He accused the present mayor of having attempted to arrest the bond issue school building program, he refusing to sign the resolution authorizing building Girls' High school, refusing to sign the contract for the school and refusing to sign checks in paying for labor and material used in the building.

He also charged that the mayor's denial of intention of cutting teachers' pay was a "political ploy" to "lead the real issue."

"He says he is not now and never has favored cutting teacher pay but he does not say what he will favor in the future," Key asserted. "I will tell that I am not now, never have been and never will be in favor of cutting teachers' pay."

He declared that the mayor has abused and made it as hard for the school department as he could.

"A bunch of lobbyists including one in the pay of the Georgia Railway & Power company were behind all this school business," the candidate charged. "The plan was to take the schools out of the hands of the people and put them in the hands of a committee of council that these men could control. They planned to make Jesse Armistead chairman of the school committee so he could do to the schools what he has done to the police department."

Says Original Plan Failed.

He said that the original plan failed to get the support that had been expected, that it was abandoned temporarily because it had seemingly not been properly timed and that the same crowd that had schemed to crush the schools had now joined in an effort to carry favor with the schools and their supporters by virtue of the bank loan to keep schools open, which he said was a political stall.

He attacked the administration for condoning the shooting of Hanes by Sigall, as indicated in Jesse Armistead's resignation to the police committee and appointment as head of the fire committee. He reiterated his criticism of the method of financing schools, declaring that the entire burden was shouldered off on the taxpayer in water bills when it should have been paid so that property could pay part through an emergency tax.

He also denounced the business management exercised by the present administration.

Key Asks Questions.

The candidate referred to the series of questions which Mayor Walter Sims had asked him through The Constitution.

"Now I want to ask the mayor some questions through The Constitution," he said.

"City revenues have been increased $2,000,000 this year and a deficit of $1,000,000 will have been piled up by the end of the year; his honor has explained that city government costs $1,000,000 more a year than it did while I was mayor. Now, where have the other $2,000,000 gone? Tell me that."

"His honor claims to have saved the taxpayers $250,000 by his loan for schools; how has he saved them the money? He doesn't think he can pay it back in water does he?"

"If the city government had been run at city hall instead of in the Gas and Electric building, all this stall about the loan wouldn't have been necessary. Now, what is a city hall for if it isn't to run the city from?"

Tell me that.

"His honor called for Alderman Bachman's resignation when Alderman Bachman didn't do to suit him, then if he didn't approve what Alderman Armistead did, why didn't he call for Alderman Armistead's resignation?"

Alderman J. R. Bachman, Key's campaign manager, introduced him.

Walter Sims, Key's opponent, introduced the general assembly subject to the September 10 primary: Chief of Construction William A. Hansell and Councilman J. Allen Couch, candidate for alderman from the fifth ward, were other speakers.

Walter McElreath made an appeal for contributions to the city's national committee's campaign chest.

Denies Killing.

Snyder, in jail, again refused to talk to reporters today, other than to repeat his denial of having killed the girl, and to say that his story would be told to the jury.

Snyder's wife, with their two month-old baby in her arms, visited him today and with tears in her eyes said she believed in him and would stand by him.

Charlie Hattaway, in another section of the jail, informed reporters today, that while he was drawing a bucket of water at Blume Thompson's house Sunday morning at 6 o'clock, Snyder was heard to say to the Wimberly girl, "I have a great mind to shoot you." The girl replied, "Then shoot." At that instant, according to Hattaway, a pistol was fired and when he looked in the direction of the ear Snyder exclaimed, "I have shot Hattie accidentally."

Snyder's wife objected to photographers taking pictures of her husband, but Snyder said he did not object to the pictures if they did not show the iron bars in the background. Snyder seems more composed since the arrival of his wife, but smoke incessantly.

There will be no additional arrests in the case, as far as is known today.

FLOGGING CHARGES REPORTED UNFOUNDED.

Sparta, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—A report in news dispatches of the recent killing of Hattie Wimberly, young Augusta woman, whose body was found floating in the Ogeechee river near Harrison bridge, Wednesday morning, stating that criminal charges were pending in Hancock county against several alleged slayers, for a long time, has been near here some weeks ago, is an error. She or the other parties are not known in Hancock county. No charges were made against them, according to official records.

LAKEWOOD HEARS ELECTION ISSUES

Practically every candidate for county office spoke Friday night at a political meeting at the filling station in Lakewood Heights, which was held by supporters of Judge G. H. Howard, candidate for the judgeship of Fulton superior court, and J. O. Wood, candidate to succeed himself as member of the legislature.

Hostilities between John A. Boykin, candidate for reelection as solicitor general, and Louis H. Foster, representing Judge Garland Watkins, as the outcome of their bitter rivalry, tilted at a similar meeting at Center Hill Wednesday night, failed to develop, although both spoke.

Judge Howard, first speaker on the list, denied that he had raised any issue "as charged" by his opponent. He told of his appointment by Governor Clifford Walker as judge of Fulton superior court when the new judgeship was established, stating he had known Governor Walker for more than 15 years, and that the chief executive had ample opportunities to pass on his ability and integrity as a judge before making the appointment.

He denied charges that he moved to Fulton county only after being appointed judge here, and stated that he had resided in West End for four years previous to that time.

Adams Represents McClelland.

Judge L. F. McClelland, who will oppose Judge Howard in the primaries, was not present, but was represented by A. N. Adams. Mr. Adams reviewed Judge McClelland's history and of official life sketching his rise from a cash boy to a leading attorney and finally to his election as judge of the municipal court of Atlanta, in which capacity he has served for the past 10 years.

He quoted from the publication, "Men of the South," in which Judge Howard's history appears, and said that facts for the article were given by Judge Howard. In the story, he said, the date on which Judge Howard moved to Atlanta is given as January, 1921, or a year and a half later than the date Howard mentioned in his address.

Mr. Wood, in the race to succeed himself in the house of representatives, related his record of the past two years as grounds on which his appeal for reelection is based. He said he had prepared and introduced in the house the bill substituting the salary for the fee system in Fulton county, and was active in securing its passage.

He also stated that he had backed the bill authorizing the city of Atlanta to hold a referendum on a 1-mill tax, proposed as a means to raise funds to permit continued operation of the city's schools.

DAVIS TO SPEAK IN OMAHA TODAY

Chicago, September 5.—After four days of conferences here with democratic leaders from half a dozen states, John W. Davis departed tonight to carry his fight for the presidency into the territory west of the Mississippi river. Before boarding his special train for Omaha, Neb., where he will speak tomorrow night, the democratic standard bearer declared that the four days spent here had been as profitable as any four days he has spent since his nomination.

"I am really very much encouraged by the conference held here," he said. "I have seen people from Indiana, from Illinois, from Missouri, from Kansas, from Nebraska, from Iowa. The situation in all these states is not only as good as I thought it was, it is a good deal better. I am not prepared to announce how many of these states I am going to carry, or by what majority, but I am going to make a fight in every one of them."

"You do not regard any one of them as hopeless?" Mr. Davis was asked.

"Assuredly I do not regard any of them as hopeless."

Asked about reports in wide circulation to the effect that "Davis is through in the west," the democratic candidate denied this as propaganda and declared there could be no doubt about its source.

"Undoubtedly the reason that it is spread," he said, "is to make the fight in the west on its face a fight against the Prince of Wales."

He said he expected to hold all the democrats of the west, and I hope to add to their number before it is over."

Mr. Davis stated emphatically that he would not make a direct attack on the 14 Follette movement.

WISCONSIN GOVERNOR OUSTS KLAN OFFICIAL

Madison, Wis., September 5.—Governor Blaine started an open fight on the Ku Klux Klan today when he announced an order had been issued suspending George B. Clementson as district attorney of Grant county.

The executive declared the Klan was "a potential menace to the peace and security of our citizens" and that it must not be permitted to get a foothold in Wisconsin.

The letter was written as a result of a hooded demonstration at Boscobel three weeks ago and of difficulties at Muscoda, also in Grant county, last Tuesday, as a result of which Lee Manning was shot. The governor charges that Clementson failed to follow his orders regarding prosecutions in the Boscobel demonstration.

CURLY HAIR

Women Claims Scenario.

Mrs. Thompson, who declared that she submitted the scenario to the Paramount Pictures corporation in 1918, said that the idea for the scenario was suggested by personal experience of her own family. She declared that the two brothers, John and Dan, were actual names she applied to the film and that the name of the family has been changed from McDonald, as she had it, to McFavish.

In practically every detail, the scenario which she originally submitted has been followed in the production.

Jeanie MacFavish, a well-known scenario writer, in the employ of DeMille, is credited with authorship of the scenario of "The Ten Commandments."

The episode of the falling of the man, received by the department of commerce, disclose that shipments of human hair from Chefoo during the first half of this year dwindled to $133,881, as compared with $461,339 in the corresponding period of 1923. Exporting of human hair is the chief item of Chefoo's foreign trade.

ceipts for the week past and for all future showings, the money to be held pending further court action, which is directed against the Paramount company and the Atlanta theater.

Under the order the film cannot be shown anywhere outside of Atlanta until Judge Humphries has passed on the merits of the case.

Would Get Small Sum.

Regarding Mrs. Thompson's action, Alfred S. Barnard, general counsel of the Famous Players corporation in the south, with offices in Atlanta, stated:

"I am not acquainted with the method by which the scenario was obtained, but it appears unreasonable that Famous Players should be required to pay for it. The production has been exhibited for more than a year, but this is the first time I heard of Mrs. Thompson's claim to authorship of the scenario."

"However, in any case, she would not be entitled to more than $100, as that is about the maximum amount paid for scenarios. The bill filed by Mrs. Thompson alleges that she has written several scenarios, but she fails to state whether any of them were accepted or made into pictures, and whether she ever was paid for any of them."

Knows Nothing of Case.

Louis Haasse, manager of the Atlanta theater, stated Friday night that the local theater management knew nothing of the case, except that a temporary injunction had been asked. The whole matter, he said, was in the hands of the lawyers for the theater.

"However," said Mr. Haasse, "it seems peculiar to me that this legal action should only have been taken when the picture came here after it had been running steadily in New York for nearly a year and had been shown in a number of other large cities since it was released by the studio about eight months ago. It seems strange that, if there is a good case for the plaintiff in the case, the picture should be so long without any legal claim being made."

Ignored by Company.

Mrs. Thompson said that she had frequently written officials of the Paramount corporation in Atlanta of the picture, but had received only one formal, unsympathetic letter in return.

Mrs. Thompson said that she thought she would have no trouble in convincing members of a jury that she is the rightful author and deserves proper recognition and recompense for the work.

The hearing is scheduled for 10 o'clock this morning. Mrs. Thompson is represented by the firm of Alston, Alston, Foster & Moore.

Philadelphia," second, "Miss Cape May," third, "Miss Newark."

Southern First, "Miss Atlanta," second, "Miss Washington," third, "Miss New Orleans."

Mid-Western—First, "Miss Chicago," second, "Miss Youngstown," third, "Miss Milwaukee."

Western—First, "Miss Los Angeles," second, "Miss Santa Cruz," third, "Miss Oklahoma City."

These three winners from each of the five divisions will compete with the present "Miss America" Saturday night on the million-dollar pier, when the national title race will be decided.

In winning first place in the southern division, "Miss Atlanta" took honors in the third largest division of the five. The New York and New England section is first with 21 entries; Middle Atlantic second with 19; and the southern third with 15.

Together with "Miss Manhattan," "Miss Washington" and "Miss New Orleans" in the southern division, "Miss Atlanta" eliminated beauties representing Baltimore, Birmingham, Louisville, Columbus, Ga., Cincinnati, Md.; Lakeland, Fla.; Louisville, Ky.; Nashville, Paducah, Ky.; Pensacola, Tampa and West Palm Beach.

Together with "Miss Manhattan," "Miss Philadelphia," "Miss Chicago" and "Miss Los Angeles," Atlanta's queen of beauty is one of the five leading contenders for the American beauty crown.

Assured of Loving Cup.

She is already assured of a magnificent loving cup as first of the southern beauties, and she is being continuously monitored by the radio forecasts as probable successor to the honors of "Miss America."

"Miss Atlanta" passed a busy day Friday. In the morning she spent two and a half hours before the judges, everyone of whom is a nationally famous artist, illustrator, painter, sculptor or theatrical producer. She appeared in her blue and gold bathing outfit presented her by the Bradley Knitting company.

In the spectacular bathing revue, she swam down the pool, and then in a Martha Day silk and satin bathing suit of black and white.

"Miss Atlanta" cheered.

Southern visitors Atlantic City hailed and cheered her all the way, and the packed thousands of spectators greeted her with warm approval generally.

The eastern weather, which has changed since after tea from broiling hot to chilling cold, again did an acrobatic stunt Friday afternoon at the close of the revue, and sent the multitude scattering to shelter before a cold and disagreeable rain.

The change, however, failed to halt the magnificent pyrotechnic display scheduled for Friday night. There will be more than an hour of the roiling surf and the waves far out to sea were lit by gigantic flames of fireworks, while the batteries thundered a crashing accompaniment.

"Miss Atlanta" has so far been unable to do much yachting, the rough seas keeping her on land except for a brief cruise Friday afternoon. However, if the weather clears, she has been tendered use of any vessel in the fleet of the famous Atlantic City Yacht club.

POLITICAL SKEIN IS MUCH TANGLED

Klan and the state republican organization? And if they should win the knife Coudelle also? Are the farmers who were inclined toward La Follette going to swing back to Coudelle because they have had a successful season? How many labor votes can Gompers deliver to La Follette?

Answer Bare November 5.

These are some of the questions that one must answer before he can qualify as a political prophet. And nobody is going to know the answer until the morning of November 5, and it may not be clear even then just how the tangled forces in this campaign have worked.

Among neutral observers there seems to be a general feeling that if the election were held now, Coudelle would get the heaviest vote. But whether he would have a clear majority, or whether La Follette would be strong enough to throw the contest into congress, is a matter of doubt even among the best informed.

include a flank movement by the attacking army and attempt to reach Shanghai from the south.

Throughout Friday the fighting spluttered along a 20-mile front, but at no time did the engagement become more than a scattered series of skirmishes in the accepted method of Chinese warfare. The attacking army concentrated heavily in front of the Woo Sung forts and the Kiangnan arsenal outside Shanghai but did not attack.

Quin San Is Burned.

Reports from the lines indicate that the attacking army was unsuccessful in their assault Saturday night. A battle may develop in the Tai Hu lake district or even further inland.

Quin San, a 20-mile north of Shanghai, has been burned by Chinese troops and soon afterward a batch of 100 wounded civilians and troops entered Shanghai, adding to the terror among the already frightened Chinese.

The attacking army followed up a successful assault upon Quin San with an air bomb attack on Nan Ziang.

The rival Chinese fleets are approaching each other near Shanghai and Nanking on the Yangtze River. Both fleets sailed Friday, one from Shanghai and the other from Nanking.

Foreign Fleet Ready.

Along 10 miles of Shanghai water front stretches a line of foreign warships from which marines could be landed immediately in the event of danger to the city.

Correspondents have been barred from the fighting lines by the rival Chinese and accurate news of the progress of the battle is unavailable although it is known that both generals have followed the Chinese custom of placing their most inferior troops in the front line. There was considerable ammunition expended during the fighting Friday, but as the troops actively engaged are not skilled marksmen and are equipped with obsolete arms it is not thought that any serious damage was done by the wild rain of bullets.

Holding Shock Troops.

First-class troops are being held in reserve on both sides for use in the final decisive meeting.

Peking officials have denied that there is any danger that the government will be drawn into active participation in the present disturbance. It is announced that the report that Chang Tso Lin, the Manchurian dictator, had threatened to move against the Peking government against the fighting around Shanghai were stopped at once as false. A letter has been received from Chang. It is admitted, but officials insist that it contained no threats.

Mrs. Moore's injuries were not of a serious nature and she was taken to her home, where she was attended by the family physician.

According to police reports, R. F. Bartlett, whose address was given as a rural route at Atlanta, was driving the machine in which Mrs. Moore was riding. J. C. Broadnax, of 91 West Fifth street, was driving the other car. At the request of both drivers, no arrest was made.

and our own chancellor, Dr. Marx, was the signal for a renewal of hope. There may yet be technicalities and the packed thousands of spectators official adjudication before it goes into full operation. But the greatest and most gratifying thing about the renew spirit abroad. "There was a feeling that a settlement of our tremendous problems depended on agreement of the great powers. 'Have you noticed the atmosphere at the league of nations convention in Geneva?' asked Herr Knoke. 'There was a new spirit abroad, a greater freedom of discussion, a desire for cooperation, less intrigue, less scheming and Machiavellian design. And another thing that is a new spirit abroad is the conviction that we are in a new fashion, untried procedure that will settle nothing. A new war would bring about a situation of exhaustion for both the winner and loser. Both would be vanquished in another conflict.'

"Of course, the United States and other democracies have always favored this," we countered. "We fought our country in fact to impose upon you this very ideal. There was no quarrel with your people, whom we admire as progressive, scientific and artistic to a marked degree, but we could not submit to the 'culture' of the militarist party and your fatherland. Though averse to war, we could not countenance the ruthlessness of that particular group which had set out to force the issue of political thought upon neighboring nations."

Admits Loss of War.

Here followed a tense moment in the service, the leading voice of Entente. The German sank his head in thought. There was no bitterness, no hatred. We felt here was the last barrier. The barrier of the German people, who followed him, like Lord Palmer of Great Britain, M. Thoms of Belgium, M. Benes of Czechoslovakia and Signor Salandra of Italy.

"Herbert argued, 'for it does not meet the requirements of the covenant of the league, which declares that armaments should be reduced to a level compatible with national security.'"

"To the French premier, arbitration must be inseparably joined with the security of disarmament. Germany, the way to fulfillment of the covenant of the league is to take any part in the next international effort to reduce armaments on land and sea."

Tonight, the general impression was that he United States will participate in such a conference.

Sumner residents and natives of the coast below Brunswick had been on the lookout all day for the fliers, and many yachting parties stood out to sea to watch the airman pass. Once the fliers descended, however, word of their coming to this coast spread slowly, and it was not until after dinner that crowds began to collect at Mere Point. By 8 p. m., the hundreds of people had gathered at the mere to look over the planes.

By this time the fog was clearing, and the three seaplanes were fully visible from the shore. Later in the evening, the entire bay was clear of mist, although a heavy fog bank still hung threateningly off shore.

TAKE-OFF FROM PICTOU PROVES SPECTACULAR.

Pictou, N. S., September 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—The American army around the world fliers left foreign soil for the last time in an exclusive interview Friday night. "After leaving Pictou, conditions were good, but at St. John, New Brunswick, we ran into fog."

"Through this fog we pushed on down the coast, keeping the land in sight whenever possible. But it didn't. Finally, I realized that it would be unsafe to continue—that as the fog gave no sign of breaking, we could not be assured of reaching Boston safely."

"The three machines were flying in V-formation, my plane leading the way. I swung over the shore, studying the coast below, seeking a sheltered inlet for the machines. I looked that coast all over—carefully. Fifteen minutes after reaching the decision to descend, we sighted Maquoit Bay, opening off Casco Bay, and after circling about, settled onto the water there."

Glad To Be Home.

"The machines are quite all right. We are quite all right; and we are mighty glad to be home in the U. S. A."

Despite Lieutenant Smith's appreciation of the warm welcome tendered him here, it was evident that the airman strongly regretted that it had been necessary for him to halt on his way to Boston.

"It's the first time we've had to descend this way," he commented. Lieutenant Smith was recalled that when he reached the North American continent at Lee, Pictou, Labrador, it had been generally assumed that the worst of the world flight was over, and that the hops down the coast would not offer further dangers.

"I thought the worst was over myself," he said. "But—I was not making predictions. I thought the worst of the flight was over a long time ago—when I reached Japan. But I found that I was wrong when I reached Greenland. Fog is the worst enemy of the aviator."

"Does America look good to you?" asked the correspondent. "I'll say it does!" Lieutenant Smith answered.

Smith is staying at the summer cottage of Nelson Chase. The other airmen are guests at other cottages at Mere Point, which is largely a summer colony.

ern daylight-saving time. Lieutenant Smith told the United News in an exclusive interview Friday night. "After leaving Pictou, conditions were good, but at St. John, New Brunswick, we ran into fog."

Gloom Lifting Now.

"That brought the gloom over the German people, the same gloom that is lifting now. It gave the discredited militarists a chance to point to the failure of the method of democracy. They flung the word 'failure' and 'trickery' in the face of the democrats and liberals. And, on the surface, they were right."

"But now the situation has changed. Herriot and MacDonald have taken up the torch fallen from the hands of that great man, Woodrow Wilson. They have approached us in the spirit of good will. Things will go better from now on. Prosperity will come back and that will mean the end of the monarchist and junker agitation."

"But now, newspapers everywhere are a great deal about what the junkers do and plan. Pay no attention to it. They are thinking of the old days. Formerly they lived on the fat of the land. They did not work, visited universities and entered the army, lorded it over everyone and were Germany's rulers. They have lost their occupation and their prestige. As time goes on, they will become less noisy. They must adapt themselves to the new Germany, a democratic Germany, something that comes very hard with them, of course."

Herr Knoke said that the German people had faith and confidence in the new Germany. He hoped Germany would be influenced by the Spartacus or communist agitation, and that all classes were showing a willingness to cooperate for the good of the country.

Will Startle World.

"France astonished the world in 1871 by paying the indemnity in gold. I hope Germany will do the same; yes, I think we will startle the world," he declared.

On his visit to Russia, Herr Knoke said he received a painful impression. Private trading is dead again. On the death of Lenin, whom he described as a master mind, and an idealist, the red leaders decided to abandon the idealistic economic retreat and return to communism with deplorable results.

"Intervention in Russia will not help," he said. "We must let the thing run its course. It cannot last forever. Russia will have a severe crisis some day and that will be the end of bolshevism. They are in their own house, however, and must work out their own salvation."

Herr Knoke, who is paying his first visit to the United States, was frankly amazed at the signs of prosperity which he saw about all sides.

The planes, which are in immaculate trim and show no sign of the rigors of their world voyage, are lying at anchor off the rocky shores of Maquoit bay, near Mere Point. The waters of the bay are smooth, as they are protected from the rougher waves off Casco bay by a number of islands guarding the entrance to Maquoit.

"One day I read in the Ladies' Bazaar Almanac about how Cardui had helped women with troubles like mine, so my husband thought it would be a good thing for me to try. He brought me a bottle of Cardui and I began to take it."

"From the first I began to improve. After I finished my first bottle I felt much better and began to gain in weight. My appetite picked up and I could eat anything."

"I kept up the Cardui until I had taken two more bottles because I did not want to lose what I had gained. I continued to improve. The pains from which I had been suffering completely disappeared."

"I owe a lot to Cardui. It is a grand tonic for women and their ailments. It is the best tonic I know of and I recommend it to all my friends."

MAXSON FURNAL JUBEL

Last Day of Fun Shop Sales.
Regardless of the demand, we cannot continue our sales beyond today.
Monday our regular stock, specially augmented for the new season, will be on display.
We hope you have enjoyed our sales week as much as we have—we inaugurated it, "now it can be told," at the suggestion of a number of our readers. Having accepted this widespread suggestion, and given over the Fun Shop for four days to the purpose, we feel we have done our part.
Now you do yours: by contributing regularly, whether you hear from us or not.

Romance.
Grandfather leaned over the garden wall.
Where fell the moonlight dim,
Grandmother blushed on the other side.

Modest and simple and prim,
He gave an old-fashioned kiss to her,
And she gave her heart to him,
Grandfather's grandson calls at the door.

Waits with a chauffeur prim,
And grandmother's granddaughter appears Tailored and modern and trim,
He gives her the same old-fashioned kiss.

And she gives her heart to him,
(But he also gives her a dozen roses, seven pounds of chocolates and glazed fruits, theater tickets, twelve books, a quart of perfume, an engagement ring set in platinum, a pearl necklace, a jeweled wrist watch, a house in the country, and a car.)

—Elizabeth Evelyn Moore.

No, Gertrude, just because you used to make wonderful mud pies, it doesn't follow that cooking his meals will come naturally.

Then Why Hide Them?
Six-year-old Ada was watching her grandmother dress.
"Why, grandma," she asked, "what are you putting on two petticoats for?"

"So that people can't see my legs," primly replied her grandmother.

The modern little miss looked pained and lowering her voice, she is quired anxiously: "Grandma, what's the matter with your legs?"

—E. P. M.

Corn Pone.
I like the tender, juicy corn,
It hits the spot, my dears;
But can't someone contrive it so
That spot won't be my ears?

The Frozen Horror.
He gazed at his wife in horror. For a long time he had been searching for her—only to find her like this:
"Gloria!" he cried, "Gloria! Can't you answer me?"
Her face was like marble and was of an unearthly color. Mutely she shook her head. Her face seemed frozen—paralyzed—only her eyes seemed alive.
Her husband shuddered and buried his face in his hands. His fingers closed over a hammer. He raised it and eyed it in horror, yet it seemed to be the only thing to do. It was only after a dozen heavy, sickening blows with the hammer that he could remove the beauty clay from his wife's face.
—P. S. P.

Top Dat!
Little Mary was five years old. One evening her tummy ached and put her in misery.
She slapped it vigorously, saying at the same time: "Be still, tummy, You've had your dinner."
—Mrs. M. H. Scandutt.

The man who says that he has never deceived his wife is telling the truth—but he thinks he is lying.

An Achievement.
I think I'm quite a poet,
And often, just for fun,
I sit and rhyme such words as this:
"Paralellepipedon."
—Tennyson J. Daft.

When father pays his income tax,
Hoping a dollar to save,

His Desire.

"Old Riley Rippey got to saying tuther day," related Gap Johnson, of Rumpus Ridge, "that he was eighty-three years old and hadn't never seed a moving picture yet, but had just about made up his mind that he'd like to sorter see how they look."

"So he rid into town with me last Friday and attended the Oriental Grotto Picture Palace. He set right through three performances and was starting in on the fourth when the manager of the show asked him if he didn't think he was acting kinda funny, seeing the same thing over and over."

"That nought he, and then ag'in it moughtn't," says the old man. "Such cuttin' up as have been going on yur may be an old story to you town folks, but they hain't to me, and I want to see the outcome of 'em. That there lady's husband hain't keitched that infernal dode fooling around yer yet, but I figger that the dode'll be a little slow the next time and the husband will show up in time to nail him. And if he does I want to be right yur when it happens."

Learning How the Other Half Lives.

When a neighbor changes his butcher and grocer, find out the reason why.

Give the clothes lines in the neighborhood the once over every wash day.

Get up parties for the little boy next door and proceed to pump him.

Engage the servant girl your former friend used to have.

Recall which families have to borrow things from their neighbors whenever they give a party.

Listen in whenever you're using a party wire.

Seat of War.

Willie: "Does your father ever spank you?"

Freddie: "You bet he does. Yesterday he spanked me for breaking a window and then spanked me again because I broke the hairbrush while spanking me the first time."

Trooper O'Neill

"Miss Lestrage!" he ejaculated.
"You do not look pleased," she retorted. "Not even though I save your dinner from burning."
"I forgot all about it. Thank you." He put down the logs and came towards her.
"For why you camp in the open?" she queried. "There is room in the town."

The frank question put without the slightest hesitation or embarrassment surprised him.

Ask Your Physician.

It is well to know a little about the medicines we keep on our shelf. Some medicines increase in strength with time, while others, after having stood a while, lose all their beneficial qualities. Inquire about any of which you are in doubt.

Handed Down.

It pays the woman who has a number of children to buy the best of materials, on account of the possibilities of their being handed down to the next child for a morning romper or dress. It sounds rather hard on the youngest but it certainly saves the mother time and money.

MINTER SENTENCE COMMUTED TO LIFE

The long fight which has been waged for over a year to save the life of J. W. Minter, aged 35, of Coweta county, who has been under sentence of death for the murder of his son-in-law, Millard Trouton, ended successfully for Minter Friday, when Governor Walker issued an order commuting the sentence from death to life imprisonment.

In the lengthy statement issued by the governor, the executive refers to "the revolting manner of the killing as well as the disposition of the body of the deceased," declaring that these not only justify, but demand that the applicant be isolated from society for the remainder of his days, but adds that the circumstances surrounding the murder warrant mitigation. Minter, in the governor's order, is characterized as "an illiterate and uneducated man, and by his ignorance he was and is deprived of the many sources of consolation and comfort available to the man of polished mind and education."

Governor Walker has studied Minter's case for more than a week, having under consideration during that time the prison commission's recommendation that the sentence be commuted. The commission's recommendation for mercy followed a hearing at which friends and legal representatives of the condemned man pleaded his case, asking mercy on the grounds that he was unbalanced of mind at the time the murder was committed.

The Trouton murder has been of unusual interest in Georgia because of the extraordinary circumstances under which it was committed. Trouton was abducted from his home in Newman by six men, who later, by their confession, turned out to be Minter, his two sons and three sons-in-law. The exact details of the crime have never been determined, but it is agreed that Trouton was slain and his body thrown into Line creek, near Newman.

Minter was sentenced to be hanged, while his kinsmen were given less drastic sentences. The case was appealed to the supreme court, where a new trial was refused. The case was finally carried to the prison commission.

Moral Awakening of World Only Barrier to Future War

Famous Minister of London, in Address Here, Sees Next War Between Asiatics and Whites.

Unless there is a great moral awakening of the people of the world, which will have strength enough to do away with it, war will inevitably recur with ever-increasing power until civilization as we know it today is destroyed, declared Dr. F. W. Norwood, famous Baptist minister of London, pastor of the London City Tabernacle, in a lecture delivered Friday night at the First Baptist church of Atlanta.

It is, in all probability, to the two great branches of the English-speaking race that the world must look for leadership in arousing this sentiment which shall outlaw war, said Dr. Norwood, and this leadership, when it comes, must consist of the creation of a system of international law so universally recognized and upheld that the nations of the world will automatically brand as criminal an aggressive war undertaken without first submitting the issue to arbitration before a world court.

Dr. Norwood also predicted that, in all likelihood, the next great war, if the nations do not outlaw all war, will be fought between the Asiatic and the white races.

In the past, he said, "you of America have taken comfort in the thought that there are 3,000 miles of water between you and war-torn Europe. I expect that when the next war comes, Europe will take comfort in the thought that the same 3,000 miles of ocean lie between her and America."

Dr. Norwood said that, when the nations gathered at the peace conference after the World War, they were three types of civilization represented. There were the European nations, with a history of repression, of fear, behind them, to make them demand military safeguards against future attack. Then there were the new republican nations, typified by America, with an idealism of world peace to offer, with no history of international war behind them to arouse their fears. Thirdly, there were the Asiatic nations, typified by Japan, which sought to break down the lines of racial demarcation.

Wanted Racial Bar Abandoned. Japan, he said, virtually asked at the peace conference an abandonment of the racial bar. "Japan," he said, "said that from Asia had come many of the greatest minds of all the ages, many of the greatest civilizations. 'And,' he added, 'the world would be a better place if the Asiatic races had come all the leaders of religion—Mohammed, Confucius, Buddha and Christ. Yes, Christ was a Jew, a Jew of the East, but he came to earth again today in the same human form. He was two centuries ago, the immigration laws of America and Britain would bar him from their countries because of his dark skin.'"

Japan, he said, was bought off from this position by the gift of Shantung.

"But then," he added, "only recently Japan knocked at your Pacific door and you, perhaps, somewhat brusquely, told her to break down closed. Japan has not knocked again since then, but she has composed her differences with China and is fast strengthening her friendship with Russia."

Native of Australia. Dr. Norwood is a native of Australia, first coming to England when he accompanied the Australian troops to the great war. He opened his lecture with a comparison between the history of America and the history of Australia.

story of Australia. Geographically, he said, Australia is practically the same in area as the United States. She is a federation of states under a central government, and the question of state rights, while it never brought war, is yet as important a political issue in his country as it is here.

He told how Australia was absolutely independent of the mother country, England, but how proud she was of her place in the British Empire. After drawing the picture of the racial war between the yellow races and the whites, in which he said America would stand in the forefront of the attack, he said that Australia stretched a hand of brotherhood across the Pacific, and in years to come, that hand of brotherhood might give of vast importance to the people over here.

Why He Opposes War. War, said the speaker, he condemned not because it brought death to the man who fought. That, he said, was not important. But he condemned it because every bullet, which killed a man, broke a woman's heart. Every bullet that landed in a soldier's breast, broke a child's heart, of the right to live, at least its natural guardian and protector. He condemned war, he said, because it sold a man's life for a few dollars and aroused in them the slumbering beast. All nations suffered after their manhood had been to war, he said, because one lowered the moral fiber of their men.

If people think the soldiers of their nation are all angels, and it is only among the lecture writers that devils are to be found, they are very innocent minded, said the speaker. War, he said, was always conducted under a banner, and the banner of the enemy it became proper to lie about your own people and about the enemy it was propaganda.

Improper use of influence with Governor Walker by Judge G. H. Howard, of Fulton superior court, was charged in addresses Friday at a meeting of friends of L. F. McCord, Howard's opponent.

The meeting was held at 79 1/2 Peachtree street and was attended by more than 200 voters, a great majority of whom were members of the Atlanta bar. Attorneys George C. Spence and Reuben R. Arnold were principal speakers.

The case of Paul Johns, which has been the subject of charges and counter charges for some days, was referred to, as was the case of Frank Tighe, now convicted on a liquor charge before Judge A. E. Calhoun. It was charged that Judge Howard improperly used his influence with the governing body to secure commutation of Tighe's sentence, and Judge Howard was criticised for alleged interference with matters not tried in his own court.

Attorney Arnold confined his remarks principally to the need of "clean courts," and strongly urged the election of Judge "Clelland."

RESOLUTION TO SETTLE ALL DISPUTES PEACEABLY PASSES LEAGUE ASSEMBLY WITH WILD ACCLAM

Senator Harris Denies Membership in Klan

"NOT MEMBER NOW AND NEVER HAVE BEEN," HE STATES

Senator's Statement Is Made in Reply to Charge by Hardwick in Gainesville Speech.

LETTER FROM FORMER KLAN WORKER QUOTED

Hardwick Says Message Evidently Referred to Request by Harris to Cedartown Order.

Denial by Senator W. J. Harris that he is now or ever has been a member of the Ku Klux Klan was made late Saturday in reply to charges by his opponent, former Governor Thomas W. Hardwick, and publication by the latter of a letter purporting to show that the senior Georgia senator is a member of that order.

"I am not now nor have I ever been a member of the organization or affiliated with it," Senator Harris said in his scathing reply to the Hardwick charge. "I am surprised that Mr. Hardwick should stoop so low as to read and circulate in the closing hours of this campaign an alleged letter, upon which he deliberately places a false interpretation."

Harris Hardwick War Record.
Senator Harris severely criticized Mr. Hardwick's record during the world war as a member of the senate and charges that Hardwick has "been living on the salary paid him by Daugherty and the Harding administration as a reward for his treachery to Woodrow Wilson and the Democratic party."

In a statement given out earlier in the day Saturday from Hardwick headquarters charges are made that Senator Harris is a klanman and copies of a letter were given out alleged to have been written by the "former head of the propagation and publicity department" of the klan in which, according to Mr. Hardwick, Senator Harris is referred to as a klanman.

Reply by Harris.
Senator Harris' reply to Hard-wick's charges and the letter, in full, follows:

"My attention has been called to an alleged letter which former Senator Thomas W. Hardwick is said

Insanity Cured By Inoculations Of Malaria Germ

Artificial Fever Is Counter-irritant in Brain Disorders Say Medics.

Berlin, September 6.—Malaria germs cure some forms of insanity.
This remarkable discovery, made after years of investigation by Danish, German and Austrian research experts, is to be discussed fully at the European medical conference now to be held at Innsbruck, Austria, but enough is already known of the results of the experiments to presage a noteworthy step in the relief of extreme mental disorders.

Among the noted professors who will address the Innsbruck conference are several who will take up the "malaria cure." They include such noted physicians as Professors Koenig, of Hamburg; Kyrle, of Vienna; Weiland, of Hamburg; and Gennepich, of Kiel.

One Danish doctor goes so far as to claim malaria germs heal all troubles of the brain, but the investigations of Dr. Wagner-Jauregg, of Vienna, and others show that they are valuable only in certain forms of insanity such as progressive paralysis of the brain and anencephalopathy.
Wagner-Jauregg first started inoculating brain sufferers with tuberculin to produce an artificial fever which he found often helped insane persons, but later, when tuberculin proved too variable for his purposes, abandoned them for the bacteria of malaria. These produced fever and chills and both acted on the brain of the patient sufficiently to cure some forms of serious mental ailments.

Other doctors subsequently developed similar results and have reached the conclusion that the germs serve as a sort of counter-irritant on the brain.

Still later experiments have tended to indicate that the artificial creation of the fever is helpful to other aliments which especially tend to develop insanity.

Voters Are Called To Oust Privilege From High Office

ANTI-FARM VIEWS OF G.O.P. ATTACKED
BY JOHN W. DAVIS

Democratic Program for Relief of Farmers Definite and Broad, Declares Candidate.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Omaha, Neb., September 6.—A readjustment and lowering of rail and water freight rates; tariff and tax reform, and government aid in stimulating the cooperative marketing movement and in establishing an export marketing commission constituted the cardinal points in a farm relief program presented here tonight by John W. Davis in the first address in his campaign for the winning of the west.

In offering this platform before an audience in the city auditorium, the democratic presidential nominee vigorously assailed the republican party for what he characterized as the discrimination against the farmer in favor of the manufacturer and for his failure to cooperate fully in the restoration of economic conditions abroad so farm products.

G. O. P. Evades Farm Issue.
In this connection Mr. Davis expressed his resentment at "the belated attempts" of the administration to capitalize the possibilities in the Dawes reparations settlement "as a political asset." He declared that if Americans had in fact "by their unofficial presence" aided in this settlement, it laid "a crushing burden of blame and responsibility on the shoulders of those who for five long years prevented any form of American participation" in solving the reparations problem.

Taking up the republican proposal outlined by Charles G. Dawes, the vice presidential candidate, that the entire farm relief problems be submitted to an "impartial, nonpartisan, competent commission under economic guidance," Mr. Davis asserted that there already has been sufficient investigation and charged that in proposing a new one the administration was "seeking to evade a decision on matters of principle."

Democrats Offer Real Program.
"The democratic party," Mr. Davis said, "has a definite program by means of which we hope to restore to the farmer the economic equality of which he has been unjustly deprived.
We undertake:
"To adopt an international policy

General Pershing Sends Farewell To Disabled Vets

Though Retiring September

ways Close to Heart.

Washington, September 6.—Assuring the disabled former service men that while "I must bid you adieu," you may feel assured that your interests and welfare shall always be close to my heart," General Pershing today sent a farewell message to the disabled American veterans.
The message follows:
"To the Disabled American Veterans:
"As you all perhaps know, on the 13th of this month I am to retire from active service in the army. I can not do this, however, without expressing to you once more my deep appreciation of the great sacrifices which you made in the world war.
Your indomitable courage and will made possible the brilliant victories achieved by our army, and your deeds will live forever as a record of your devotion to the ideals upon which our nation is founded.
"While, as your former commander-in-chief, I must bid you adieu, you may feel assured that your interests and welfare will always be close to my heart in civil life as they have been in the past.
"With my best wishes and affectionate regards, I remain, as always,
"Cordially yours,
"JOHN J. PERSHING."

Claims Government Controlled.
"The government has got farther and farther away from you because
the group that has been able to express its will in the matter of law enforcement and law administration has become a smaller and smaller

GEORGIA TOBACCO SALES IN EXCESS OF FIVE MILLION

Incomplete Reports Show Over 26,000,000 Pounds
Sold at Prices Higher Than Were Expected.

Georgia's tobacco crop, the largest in the history of the state, has added more than $5,000,000 to the income of south Georgia farmers, according to incomplete reports from 9 of the 12 leading tobacco markets. More than 26,000,000 pounds of tobacco have been sold and the total price paid exceeds the $5,000,000 figure.
Several weeks ago The Constitution sent a representative to the tobacco-growing section of the state who then predicted that the crop would exceed 25,000,000 pounds and that it would bring upward of $5,000,000. His prediction was very conservative, according to latest reports.
"The quality of the leaf has attracted buyers from practically all sections of the United States, England and from many points in the Orient.
Prices paid have exceeded the expectations of the most optimistic growers and have resulted in creation of a sentiment among south Georgia farmers to greatly increase the acreage in the coming year.
Only two or three of the markets have closed, although all markets will close within the next ten days or two weeks, it is learned. Scores of buyers who have remained at warehouses in a score of south Georgia cities for the past six weeks to purchase Georgia's crop, will move on to other sections. Reports indicate that more than three-fourths of the crop has been sold.

WHEELER PLEADS FOR LA FOLLETTE

Declares Need of Nation Is Not for More Brains in Government, but for Honesty.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
New York, September 6.—Senator Wheeler, of Montana, vice presidential candidate on the independent ticket, pleaded the cause of the movement headed by Senator La Follette and himself tonight before a New York audience in Cooper Union.
He redited the record of Senator La Follette, asserting that the Wisconsin senator's accomplishments warranted that the new national effort would be constructive in its tendencies. He renewed the assault on his political opposition which he originally based on declaration that both democratic and republican parties are controlled by Wall street.
"It is not more brains that we need in our government," he said, in developing his topic. "It is a sharper understanding that all legislation and all administration by right should be solely in the interest of the whole people. It is not for towering intellectuals that you should seek, but for men whom you can trust to remember that it is your votes that elect them."
"The government has got farther and farther away from you because
press its will in the matter of law
enforcement and law administration
has become a smaller and smaller

GRESHAM IS WOUNDED

Officer Accidentally Shot While Cleaning Gun.

John H. Gresham, of 17 Glendale avenue, veteran member of the Atlanta police department and president of the Atlanta Police Relief association, was injured Saturday morning when a gun which he was cleaning accidentally discharged, the bullet entering his leg.

He was taken to Grady hospital, where examination showed that the bullet did not strike the bone, and he is expected to be sufficiently recovered to return to his duties within a few days.

Officer Gresham stated that he was seated on the porch of his home while cleaning the gun, and did not know that it was loaded until it was discharged. He has been a member of the police force for twenty-three years.

SYMPHONY SERIES MEMBER TICKETS ON SALE MONDAY

Atlanta Symphony Orchestra To Give Series of Fall Concerts at Grand Theater.

BY RALPH T. JONES.
Sale of membership tickets for the approaching fall season in the Atlanta Symphony association will open Monday morning at the office of the Phillips & Crew Piano Co., on Peachtree street.

For the first two days the sale will be limited to those who were members of the association last year, but after then applications for membership from the general public will be accepted, and membership tickets issued, in order of application.
Each membership ticket entitles the holder to two reserved seats at each of the eight Sunday afternoon concerts to be given during the fall season by the Atlanta Symphony orchestra, the greatest organization of instrumental musicians south of the Mason and Dixon line. These concerts will be given this year in the Grand theater instead of the Howard theater where they were given last year.
The Grand has a much larger seating capacity than the Howard and it also provides large stage facilities. The orchestra will be arranged on the stage instead of in the pit, thus releasing more seats for the audience.

CONGRESS RACES HOLD BIG PLACE IN PARTY MINDS

Democrats, Republicans, and Independents Strain
To Increase Legislative Power.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES.
Washington, September 6.—Both republican and democratic campaigners, as well as workers in the La Follette movement, are warming up for a vigorous drive in these next two months to capture seats in the house and senate whose importance cannot be overestimated, as a parallel to the presidential contest.

Republicans learned too well during the last congress just what a handicap a nominal majority was. In their campaign to elect Coolidge, they are not overlooking the fact that he will need a real congressional majority if he is returned. Democratic leaders here see an opportunity this year to add still further to their forces—small gains in both the house and senate would give them a majority. The La Follette forces are equally anxious to return as many as possible to add to the little group which held the balance of power in both house and senate during the last session.

Both Parties Loud in Claims.
Predictions of both democratic and republican majorities in the house can be heard. The complexion of the membership in the lower body will depend somewhat upon the way the presidential candidates stack up, though not altogether, by any means.
A decided swing one way or the other may sweep members of the house along with it.
The situation in the senate is a

BOMB PLOT FAILS WHEN TIME FUSE PROVES BETRAYER

Tokio, September 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—A parcel post package delivered to the home of General Mastaro Fukuda today warned the general's wife as to its contents by clicking while she was opening it.
Mrs. Fukuda escaped from the room before the package, containing a time bomb, exploded. The room was wrecked.
General Fukuda has been the center of a radical agitation here which resulted in the general being fired upon by Kyutaro Wada on September 2.

HARRIS AND HARDWICK IN RACE FOR SENATE

Governor Clifford Walker Unopposed—Many State-

Opponents.

BY RALPH T. JONES.
Voters of Georgia will go to the polls Wednesday for the regular biennial primary for nomination of state officials. In a majority of counties voters also will name county officials and in five counties constitutional amendments will be voted upon which, if ratified, will change the method of paying officials in those counties from the fee system to a salary basis.

The election, reports from practically every section of the state indicate, will be one of the quietest in many years. In counties where elections are held on September 10, interest in county affairs exceeds any contest for state offices.

In the statewide campaigns the interest this year has not been quite so heated as has been usual in Georgia for many years past. This is probably due to the fact that for a number of the leading places there has been no contest, the present incumbents being unopposed for reelection.

Centering chief interest probably is the race for the United States senatorship, in which Senator William J.
Harris, senior of Georgia's two senators, a seeking reelection, with Thomas W. Hardwick, former senator and governor, opposing him. Both candidates in statements given out Saturday night expressed confidence that they would be returned the victor when the votes are counted Wednesday night.

Governor Unopposed.
Governor Clifford Walker is unopposed. Herschel H. Elders, of Reids-ville, paid his entrance fee as a candidate in the gubernatorial race but shortly after the legislature adjourned, he announced his withdrawal from

START REBUILDING NEW CLUBHOUSE

Druid Hills Golf Club's House, Destroyed by Fire, To Be Rebuilt by Opening of 1925 Season.

Rebuilding of the clubhouse of the Druid Hills Golf club, which was razed by fire last spring, was started during the past week, and with promises of contractors to rush construction, it is expected that the new clubhouse will be completed by opening of the season next spring.

The new building, which is located at Ponce de Leon avenue and Clifton road, will be built along the same Dutch colonial design as the former building, and the stone foundation of the destroyed clubhouse will be utilized in the new structure. The building will be fireproof throughout.
Exterior walls will be of brick and hollow tile, and will be stuccoed, while the entire building will be painted white. The roof will be of steel construction, with mottled green and purple slate.
The interior of the building will be almost an exact duplication of the old building, with added features of a much larger kitchen, a private entrance to the women's locker room, and a new locker for boys. Interior decorations will be on lines similar to the old clubhouse, and all equipment will be of the most modern and approved styles.
A permit for construction of the building, which will cost approximately $110,000, has been issued to the Barge-Thompson company, general contractor. The clubhouse was designed by the firm of Daugherty & Gardner, of Nashville, the same architects who drew plans for the old building.

Repudiating War Guilt Abandoned by Marx

London, September 6.—Reuter's Geneva correspondent says that, owing to representations from the French government, Chancellor Marx is reported to have abandoned world-wide issue of the proclamation sent out in the name of the German government repudiating responsibility for the war.

Premiers MacDonald, Herriot and Theunis this afternoon instructed the respective ambassadors of Great Britain, France and Belgium at Berlin to inform Chancellor Marx that Germany would be running a grave risk if it tried to reopen the debate on war responsibility at this particular time, according to the report in Geneva.

Mr. Herriot instructed the French ambassador at Berlin to inform the German government that the treaty of Versailles was based on the idea of German responsibility for the war, and that it would be extremely regrettable if Germany sought to reopen the question by a public proclamation in the world's capitals that Germany was not responsible for the war.

Geneva, September 6.—Settling by specific means all disputes which may arise between the nations of the world is the basic idea of a resolution unanimously adopted by the assembly of the league of nations
this evening amid scenes of wild enthusiasm, and after dramatic addresses by Prime Minister MacDonald, of Great Britain and Premier Herriot, of France.

The resolution declared that, with a view to reconvocation at the earliest possible moment of an international conference on armaments, the disarmament commission of the league shall study all matters affecting the disarmament question, including the security pact of guarantees and the articles of the league's covenant duction of armaments.

form, with the approbation of the 46 countries represented at today's session, an historic and united effort to make future wars impossible.

The text of the resolution: "The assembly, noting the declarations of the governments represented, remarks with satisfaction that they contain a basis of understanding tending to establish and secure peace, and decides as follows:

Duties of Commission.

"With a view to reconciling in new proposals the divergencies between certain points of view which have been expressed, and when an agreement has been reached, to enable an international conference on armaments to be summoned by the League of Nations at the earliest possible moment: (1) The third committee is requested to consider the material dealing with security and reduction of armaments, particularly the observations of the governments on the draft treaty of mutual assistance prepared in pursuance with resolution 14 of the third assembly, and other plans prepared and presented to the secretariat since publication of the draft treaty, and to examine the obligations contained in the covenant of the league in relation to guarantees of security that a resort to arbitration and reduction of armaments may require; (2) The first committee is requested to consider, in view of possible amendments, the articles in the covenant relating to settlement of disputes; to examine within what limits the terms of article 38, paragraph 2 of the statutes establishing the international court might be rendered more precise, and thereby facilitate more general acceptance of the clause; and thus strengthen the solidarity and security of the nations of the world by settling by pacific means all disputes which may arise between the states."

Demonstration Impressive.

When the unanimity of the vote was announced, there were impressive demonstrations throughout the auditorium.

Now that Great Britain and France and all the other states have shown their will to arbitrate all disputes, the real work of the assembly begins, for projects of arbitration and security must be drawn up which will receive the approbation of the great world powers. Premiers MacDonald and Herriot left Geneva apparently without any agreement on the vital question of how much military help Great Britain will accord France in case arbitration decisions are not obeyed, and the general opinion in Geneva is that the fate of the new movement to insure permanent peace depends on the answer to the question: "How much security will Great Britain give, and how little military aid will France be contented with?"

The attitude of the delegates today demonstrated clearly that, although all the countries are ready to accept obligatory arbitration, the form of settlement of conflicts must have as a corollary security guarantees based on the employment of force.

Must Employ Force.

This became evident when M. Politis, eminent Greek international jurist, delivered an illuminating dissertation on just what the league covenant stands for. He argued that the history of arbitration proved indisputably that compulsory arbitration to succeed must be backed by force, because human society has never been able to rely solely on persuasion for the protection of the lives and liberty of its citizens.

The countries of Latin-America, which took a prominent part in the discussion, all concurred on the necessity of guarantees as a concomitant of arbitration.

The resolution was adopted tonight after eloquent speeches by the British and French premiers. Mr. MacDonald said:

"If this assembly could only be recorded in the pages of history as an assembly which for the time did not merely give lip service to peace, but brain service, it would be distinguished above all gatherings of mankind that have met hitherto."

Herriot Is Hopeful.

M. Herriot gave a message of hope, without being unduly optimistic concerning the great problem before the assembly.

"Now begins the detailed study of the difficult question which Premier MacDonald has already outlined," said the French premier, "problems of mutual assistance and, above all, the great problem of international solidarity, and making that international solidarity living reality. Let us have patience to make our way through the stage which must yet be crossed. The road is long, but we must traverse it arm in arm, associating our efforts with the efforts of the French delegation. M. Herriot declared his faith that within a few days the assembly would have reached a stage of decisive progress, bringing to fruition the work of so many centuries of suffering and endurance."

Division of Problems.

Officials of the league explained tonight that all questions touching the revision of the obligatory clause of the covenant of the league, as well as the other matters, will be handled by the first committee of the assembly. All questions relating to the convocation of the next disarmament conference, which is hoped will be summoned within one year, and also the problem of framing the new pact of security and mutual assistance, will be treated by the third committee, which is the disarmament commission.

Some idea prevails of convoking an extraordinary session of the assembly, which is hoped will be summoned within one year, and also the problem of framing the new pact of security and mutual assistance, will be treated by the third committee, which is the disarmament commission.

Oil production in Russia was next to that of the United States before the world war, but is now below that of Mexico.

Permembrino, Brazil, is to have sidewalks, property owners having been ordered to lay them at once.

The attitude of the delegates today demonstrated clearly that, although all the countries are ready to accept obligatory arbitration, the form of settlement of conflicts must

PRINCE FINALLY GETS QUIET DAY

Syosset, L. I., September 6.—The Prince of Wales today had one of the quiet, undisturbed times he has sought, sometimes in vain, since his arrival on Long Island, though he spent two hours this afternoon watching the races at Belmont park, much of the time in full view of the grandstand. He traversed again the same space between boxes and paddock where on Labor day he was surrounded by a large and insistent crowd, which pressed uncomfortably about him. But today he was followed by only a small number of curious, and they kept at a respectful distance.

Though the grounds of the Meadowbrook club were adjured too wet for the international polo matches, the prince himself got in another game today, arising about 11 o'clock and mounting his pony on the field at noon.

Arriving at Belmont park just before the second race, the prince stood in the infield, accompanied only by Major E. D. Metcalfe, his equerry; Colonel C. E. C. G. Charlton, military attaché of the British embassy; four secret service men and five newspaper correspondents. He watched Mrs. Payne Whitney's Damask win a steeplechase from Duettiste, J. E. Widener's entry.

As the animals moved around the track, his highness raised his field glasses and watched intently. The prince wore the same brown-gray checked suit he wore at Belmont park on Monday, a light gray hat of heavy felt turned down on the left side, brown suede shoes and a square silver wrist watch attached to a black leather band.

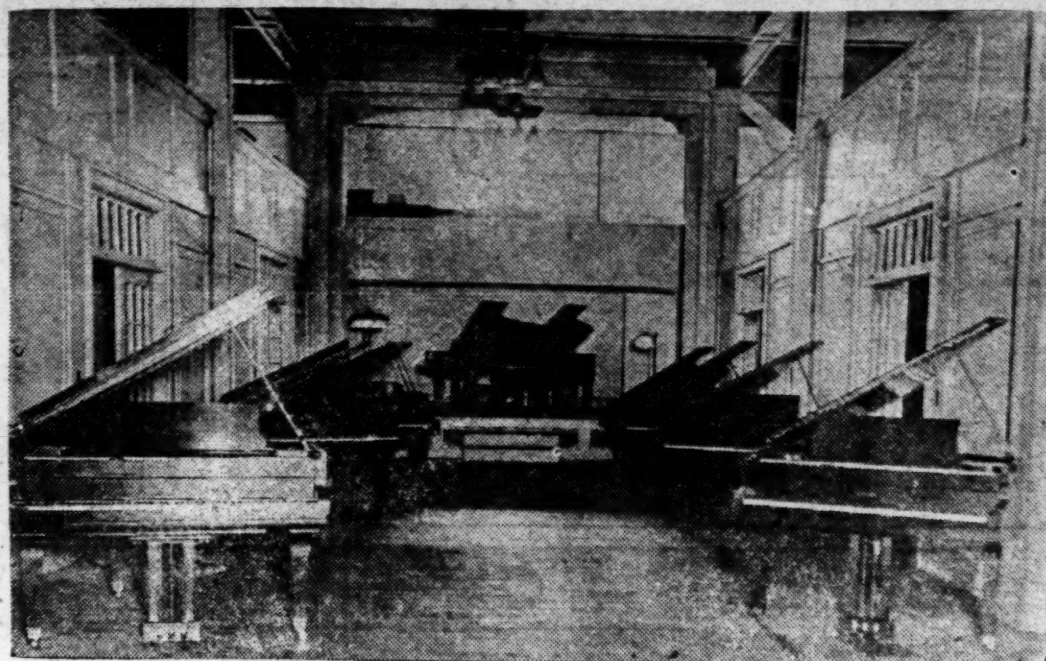

The prince drove from the race to the home of Clarence H. Mackay, where he and his host played squash racquets. The prince tonight dined and danced at the Mackays' home in Roslyn, which was elaborately decorated. The Mackay home stands upon Harbor hill, upon which Revolutionary patriots once placed beacons to signal to the Americans in their struggle with the soldiers of the third reigning member of the dynasty from which the present Prince of Wales sprang.

An American jazz band, which the prince liked in London, played for the dances.

Among the guests were Secretary of War Weeks, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, L. J. Butler, Wright, third assistant secretary of state; General John J. Pershing and Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador. These guests will also attend the dinner to be given tomorrow by Sir Esme at the Piping Rock club in honor of the prince and the polo teams.

Legionnaires Name Georgia Delegation To National Meeting

The Georgia department was awarded a trophy for its membership gain, as well as the state department being awarded several trophies.

Following is a complete list of the delegates and alternates: State Commander J. R. Fitzpatrick and Captain M. S. Edley, executive committee members from the state-at-large, both of Columbus; J. G. C. Bloodworth and Harry A. Wallerstein, both of Atlanta; T. A. Farling, of Savannah; Dr. W. L. Lewis, of Rome; Edgar B. Damp, former state commander, Gainesville; Earle Coker, Dawson; M. J. Paines, Augusta; Charles J. Bloch, Macon; W. G. Lagerquist, Albany; and Judge Albert J. Little, Valdosta.

Wilkinson, of Valdosta; Hyman Esserman, Rome; Meyer Rosenberg, Albany; M. Purdon, Sylvester; O. R. Horton, Gainesville; and Hugh A. Carithers, Winder.

Canvasser To Attend.

It is announced also by the state commander that in addition to the delegates and alternates who will make the trip, that Asa Warren, canvasser of the Georgia department, will accompany the delegation as the national executive committee for Georgia.

All delegates and alternates who are to make the trip are urged to get in communication with Department Transportation Officer M. M. Frost, at room 908, 101 Marietta street, Atlanta, to make reservations.

Mr. Frost is receiving reservations for the Legion special, and for those who will be included in the advance party.

Thousands of legionnaires from all parts of the United States will be in attendance at the 1924 convention, which is looked forward to as being the greatest in the history of the legion. ## Man Who Invented 'Corn Willy' Gets Great Memorial

Paris, September 6.—If Nicolas Appert had lived until the world war he probably would have been buried under a monument of "corn willy" cans hurled by disgusted potluis and doughboys.

After inventing the famous army delicacy known as bully beef, or "corn willy," had the grace to die in the last century, and now his name is to be perpetuated by the French government. ## D'Annunzio Bars Doors of House To All Callers

Brescia, Italy, September 6.—"My dogs, quick-scented, bite viciously. Let strangers beware them!" With these words, Gabriele d'Annunzio, poet, aviator and political stormy petrel, has again hurled his defiance in a fiery letter to a local paper in which he denied he would join Benito's Italian league.

"I am living in complete seclusion," he wrote, "and am an unsociable artist such as I was in 1911. I do not care what happens outside my home, and I daily burn thousands of unopened letters which are sent me."

"It is useless to knock at my door. My prayer or insult is liable to disturb my solitude."

"The only authentic news from me is that I have completed two essays and have started writing a novel, 'Bionnotta.'"

"Everything else is a stranger to me. I despise the opinions of others."

Ex-Follies Star Would Not Pose With Shy Wales

Boston, September 6.—"I wouldn't have my picture taken in a dancing pose with anyone in the world—not even with the Prince of Wales."

Imogene Wilson, ex-Follies star now touring New England doing ballroom dancing, asserted her independence today when asked what her manager had hoped would be one more publicity coup.

Photographers had been engaged to "snap" the fair Imogene in a conventional dancing pose with a partner, but she refused the act the night before at dance pavilions. The day previous Miss Wilson had agreed to the request.

But the temperamental "most beautiful girl on the American stage," mindful of a recent report that her picture would be taken with one Mr. Frank Tinney was nothing but a hoax to kid Broadway, chose to alter her mind.

"A picture with a partner," she told her manager, "no matter who, would be misinterpreted, twisted, lied about, and the first thing I knew I would have a new fiancee."

"I love Frank Tinney," she asserted, "and Frank Tinney alone. No, not even with the heir to the British throne."

throne would I pose," concluded Miss Wilson. The young lady was witty, so the manager charged the day up to temperament.

BIG STILL IS CAPTURED NEAR MACON HIGHWAY

Millersville, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—Sheriff Sam Terry, Deputy John Terry and County Policemen Will Lundy found a large still only a few hundred yards off the Macon highway in full blast when they arrived. The men operating it made their escape. The still was of 100-gallon capacity and 100 gallons of beer were ready to be run.

To the Voters of Fulton County

I am a candidate for reelection to the Legislature from this county. During my term of office I successfully fought a state income tax and all special taxes aimed at the overburdened taxpayers of this county.

I supported actively every bill affecting Fulton county, including the salary bills for officers, which was passed.

I supported the Highway Department in its every effort to construct a modern system of highways in the state.

I was chairman of the W. & A. committee and closed my two years' service in the Legislature by receiving the honor of being named a member of the special commission which will select a site in Atlanta for a governor's mansion.

If reelected, I shall continue to protect the interests of the people of this great county and I will appreciate your vote in the Democratic Primary, September 10th.

Sincerely yours,
BESSIE KEMPTON.
Three to be elected.

Two Girl Slayers Disdain to Fear Hangman's Noose

Chicago, September 6.—"Why worry? They can't hang us. Why I could beat this case myself—without a lawyer."

It was Lucille Marshall, a pretty 17-year-old girl held for the murder of Mrs. Bessie Gaenslen, who hurled this challenge at state's attorneys Monday from her cell in the woman's quarters of police headquarters.

Lucille, together with Anna Valanis, confessed to choking Mrs. Gaenslen to death with a telephone cord. The girls said they did it while ransacking the woman's apartment April 17 in search of money.

"We're pretty," Lucille said with a knowing wink at her co-defendant, "and you never heard of a good looking woman stretching rope in Illinois. So we know they can't hang us."

"Sure, capital punishment is a good thing. I'd like to see Louis and Leopold swing, but as for us—it's bunk."

Lucille and Anna were arrested for the murder after William Lydon, 16, and Tony Valanis, Anna's 19-year-old brother, implicated them. According to their confession, the girls did intend to kill Mrs. Gaenslen, but sought only to get money from the woman which they claimed they "had coming."

Indictments against the two girls and the two youths who helped them will be asked of the September grand jury, which convenes Tuesday.

HISTORICAL FILMS TO GLUT MARKET

Hollywood, September 6.—Historical themes in motion pictures will receive a thorough test of popularity this fall, when a number of films, dealing with phases of American history, get their first public showings. Encouraged by the success of "The Covered Wagon" and by D. W. Griffith's results in "America," producers are about to issue several pictures which combine the sentiment of patriotism with dramatic happenings which went into the making of this country.

"Barbara Frietchie" is one of the biggest undertakings completed recently. Florence Vidor plays the role of the famous Barbara, whose defense of the American flag has been set to words that will never fade. Edmund Lowe will have the leading part, opposing her.

"The Man Without a Country," a Fox effort, looks at patriotism from the outside and therefore gets a real power into its message. Going back to 1805 for its setting, it has as its chief character one whose acts have put him outside the ties of his native land.

"The Warrens of Virginia," "The Last Frontier," "The Chronicles of America," produced by Yale university press, and several other pictures, will reflect historical personages and incidents of the nation's life.

Franks Slayers Chat Cheerfully Though Fate Near

Chicago, September 6.—Apparently undisturbed by the fact that Judge John R. Caverly will in four days make known his decision in their case, Richard Loeb and Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., spent their 98th day in jail chatting light-heartedly with numerous visitors.

Judge Caverly, on the other hand, had slipped out of the city for a few days of rest and quiet, after having gone over in its entirety the 1,500 pages of evidence recorded at the hearing to determine the punishment to be meted out to Loeb and Leopold for the kidnapping and murder of their schoolboy neighbor, Bobby Franks. The judge has intimated that his decision is ready and that he will use the next day or two in preparing it in written form.

Albert H. Loeb, father of Richard, has suffered a new heart attack at the Loeb summer home in Charlevoix, Mich. A Chicago physician, called to the Michigan home, termed the oldest son's condition as "a serious weakness of the heart," and added that "when people die of a broken heart, as the phrase goes, it is this muscular inflammation that causes death, largely brought on by grief and worry."

Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Loeb will attend court Wednesday when the decision is given, said Allan Loeb, brother of Richard, who returned today from Charlevoix, even though their physical condition might permit. Nathan F. Leopold, Sr., has said that he will be present Wednesday.

Wilkes County Claimed by Friends Of Frank Holden

Washington, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—Frank A. Holden, candidate for congress from the eighth district, spoke at the court house in Washington this afternoon to a large and appreciative audience. He was introduced by Frank Colley, who paid him a glowing tribute. Mr. Holden made a splendid address, referring to the fact that many of his kinsmen had lived in this county, and that he himself was born just over the county line in Tallapoosa county.

He gave an account of his record in the Georgia legislature, and also what he would endeavor to do if elected to congress. He made an impression on his hearers and will poll a large vote in the primary September 10, his friends stated. He left immediately after his address for Tignall, where he spoke. Mr. Holden's friends are claiming Wilkes county for him by a big majority.

Pretty Atlanta Girls Will Play Leading Roles In Southeastern Fair Revue and Beauty Pageant

"Daughters of the gods, divinely fair" being as plentiful in Georgia as the well-known peach, according to the theory of the Southeastern Fair association, it is the intention of that organization, to assemble the fairest of the lot in Atlanta for the feature of the fair's entertainment program this year, and from which is to be selected "Miss Georgia," state queen of beauty.

Information has come to headquarters of the fair association, at 130 Peachtree street, from no less than 50 cities and communities that their fairest daughters are being selected by popular vote of judging to be sent, with their chaperones, to Atlanta as members of the Georgia beauty ballet and aspirants to the honors and title of "Miss Georgia," it was stated.

The ballet is to be a nightly feature of the fair's entertainment this year, as a part of the gorgeous Atlanta passing revue. Aspirants for the crown of "Miss Georgia" will appear twice each evening, and the selection of the winner will be a matter of careful study. Each night, as members of the Georgia beauty ballet candidates will be viewed by members of the governor's citizens committee, comprised of citizens from all over the state, who will make gradual eliminations—first cutting the field of 50 to 25, then eliminating five at a time until there are five or three left, from whom the supreme winner will be selected to be crowned "Miss Georgia."

She will be crowned on the final night of the fair in a ceremony designed to hold all the glitter and pomp of medieval coronations.

Knights and ladies in gold and silver cloth, in gleaming armor and rustling silks, will be her attendants. The fantastic figures of secret order degree teams will add to the pageantry of her court, and she will be presented as consort of "King George," a symbolically majestic figure representative of the state and its glories.

Aspirants for the crown of "Miss Georgia," each representing a town or community, will be drilled in a ballet by Miss Nell Sullivan, ballet master of the Atlanta passing revue. Appearing in this group as a feature of the nightly revue, each will wear a felt band across her chest, bearing the name of the city she represents.

The Southeastern fair organization has been notified that candidates of several cities have been selected—either by newspaper competition, judging and rating by beauty consultants, or by popularly contests promoted by civic organizations. Miss Anne Davis has been designated "Miss Columbus," Miss Mickey Daniel, the choice of a newspaper contest, as "Miss Quitman," and Mrs. Roy Smith as "Miss Thomasville." It is expected that Miss Lola Sweet, the "Miss Macon" of last year's Georgia ballet, will be designated again to represent the Central City as result of a competition fostered by a Macon paper.

Many Candidates Named.
"Miss Rome" will be named as soon as the competition being conducted by the Floyd county fair is decided. The Kiwanis club of Savannah and Waycross will select representatives of those cities, the Civitans of Dalton, Elks of Athens, and Chambers of Commerce in Albany and Augusta. The Suburban Reporter, a publication dealing with affairs of Atlanta's suburbs, will hold contests from which will be selected "Miss Decatur," "Miss College Park," "Miss Hapeville," and "Miss Inglewood." Similarly, newspaper contests will be used to select representatives from Griffin, Cordele, La Grange, Sardis, Fairburn, Folkston, Fayetteville and a dozen other cities.

Entertainments Arranged.
The representative of each city will have a glorious time. Each will be chaperoned by a representative woman of her community—that is one of the definite arrangements in every city contest; and chaperon and beauty queen will be guests in Atlanta at a series of receptions and parties by the Atlanta Woman's club and other women's organizations, civic bodies and theaters. The Y. W. C. A. and similar organizations will see that their living accommodations are the happiest and most comfortable.

"Miss Atlanta Faire," Atlanta beauty queen to be selected according to a contest being conducted by the fair association, will be a member of the Georgia beauty ballet and a candidate for the crown of "Miss Georgia."

Details of this contest, candidates in which are to become members of the cast of the gorgeous Atlanta passing revue, are given to those interested at the fair association headquarters at 130 Peachtree street.

BEAUTY IGNORED AND EVEN HATED BY THIS WOMAN

Geneva, Switzerland, September 6. Beauty may be all important to many women, but to Signora Possi, a pretty woman of Tirone, on the Swiss-Italian frontier, it was only a bar to her happiness.

So she dashed acids across her face and deliberately spoiled her looks, probably forever.

Her husband, a wealthy manufacturer, to whom she was married only a year ago, constantly accused her of attracting the attention of other men. These charges she denied, but could not silence.

"I could not help men admiring my beauty," she declared pathetically. "But the acid has made me ugly now, and in the future they will avoid me. My husband will trust me completely and I shall be happy."

But small happiness has come to the husband because of Signora Possi's sacrifice. He is disconsolate and vows he will engage the best doctors in Europe to try to restore her former beauty.

HARRIS EXPECTS HEAVY MAJORITY

Senator Predicts That His Opponent Will Not Car- ry Five Counties in Pri- mary.

Senator W. J. Harris in a statement yesterday expressed confidence in his overwhelming election, and continued his course of ignoring the charges of his opponent. He said: "Nothing has happened to change the indications and assurances of my overwhelming nomination for the United States senate, and I am deeply grateful for the activity and interest of my friends and supporters in every voting precinct in Georgia. They assure me that the people have never been misled by a campaign of misrepresentation made for the purpose of clouding and obscuring the real issues, which are my record and the record of my opponent."

"I have done my duty as I saw it, and attempted to serve faithfully the people of Georgia without regard to class, station or circumstances. It is not necessary for me to answer every charge, every misleading and malicious statement made about me and my record. My efforts and accomplishments speak for themselves, and I do not propose to bandy words with the people of Georgia without regard to an attempt to divert the public attention from a record which, 'in the time of war and in time of peace, will not be forgotten by my opponent in the house."

Support of Colleagues.
"It is with pardonable pride that I refer to those supporting me and whom I have served and who know of my work. My first colleague, Senator Hoke Smith, has said that I should be reelected and requests his friends to support me. The intimate members of the family of Senator Thomas W. Harris are supporting me, knowing of the approval of my record and work by the late senator. My present colleague, Senator Walter P. George has commended my record to the people of Georgia. None of the congressmen with whom I have served are opposing me, although several of them served with my opponent in the house."

"On every hand I receive assurances of active support in every military district in Georgia and I am deeply grateful to the people who have acknowledged my gratitude to the hosts of veterans among the women, the laboring and professional people and the business men."

"The last hours of the campaign may find a renewal of untrue charges, but such tactics will fail to deceive the people as they have failed since this campaign opened. It is nothing new for a public man to be the object of denunciations and calumnies and vituperation by my opponent. He viciously and wantonly attacked and denounced Woodrow Wilson and Thomas E. Harris, whose good works stand out as eternal refutation of the baseness and villainy of the slanders which he pursued them."

Asks Full Vote.
"The people of Georgia have made it plain that they did not desire a campaign of mud and muck, and slanders, and by their votes on September 10 I believe they will stand with me in the whole state, and I lost only four. If 300,000 votes are polled, I believe my majority will be at least 200,000. My opponent made claims of victory six years ago that were not justified by the results then."

The following extracts are taken from recent editorials in the Cedar-town Standard:

Harris or Hardwick?
Senator W. J. Harris and Senator T. W. Hardwick stand before the people on the records, and never in the history of this state have there been two candidates for the same office who were more nearly opposites in their public performances."

Senator Harris has a record of strict honesty as a democrat, while ex-Senator Hardwick sought the favors of the republican party. Senator Harris held office under a democratic administration, and ex-Senator Hardwick held office under a republican administration.

The record shows that Senator Harris is practically always present when a vote is taken in the senate. His record is always followed by effective work. The record shows that ex-Senator Hardwick has answered 819 times when his name was called in a little more than four years in the senate. Senator Harris missed 271 roll calls in more than five years, nearly all of them because of important work in committee rooms.

The same contrast obtains on the prohibition question. Senator Harris voted against the prohibition amendment, while ex-Senator Hardwick voted for it.

When viewed as senators working for the farmers, the contrast continues. Senator Harris has secured the passage of the most constructive legislation for the benefit of the farmer and he supported the McNary bill project for the making of cheap fertilizers in time of peace and munitions in time of war. Ex-Senator Hardwick voted against the proposition to make cheaper fertilizers at the McNary plant.

The people of Georgia wish a senator who deals in valuable works instead of vitriolic words, and in this respect and in all other essentials the contrast between the two senators is as sharp as the contrast between day and night.

The Longstreet Case.
A case which is attracting undue attention, because it is not really important, will be considered by the people of Georgia by the vote on the nomination of Senator Harris. It is a case which is being used by the opposition to the Harris nomination to create a false impression of the Harris record.

It is a case which is being used by the opposition to the Harris nomination to create a false impression of the Harris record. It is a case which is being used by the opposition to the Harris nomination to create a false impression of the Harris record.

WILL CARRY 110 COUNTIES, IS CLAIM OF A. J. WOODRUFF

In a statement given out Saturday A. J. Woodruff, candidate for the state public service commission against James D. Price, seeking reelection, stated that he would carry 110 counties or more. His statement follows:

"I have made a personal canvass of every county in the state, and with this opportunity of seeing and speaking intelligently about my race, there is every reason to believe that I will carry more than 110 counties. It is very likely that the number of counties I will carry will be considerably in excess of the number given."

Woodruff's complete canvass of the state has two purposes in mind: first, of course, in the interest of my candidacy, and second, to show the thoroughness with which the business conditions of the people in every county of the state have been done, and which I am sure have been done as well as any other man in the state has done.

MAJORITY SURE NEXT WEDNESDAY CLAIMS BENNETT

O. R. Bennett, candidate for the state public service commission to succeed Commissioner John T. Boffa, is seeking reelection, had the following to say Saturday:

"I have made a personal canvass of every county in the state, and with this opportunity of seeing and speaking intelligently about my race, there is every reason to believe that I will carry more than 110 counties. It is very likely that the number of counties I will carry will be considerably in excess of the number given."

HUNNICUTT RAPS BROWN AS RACE COMES TO CLOSE

The following statement was given out Saturday at the headquarters of George F. Hunnicutt, who is opposing J. J. Brown, commissioner of agriculture, for reelection:

"Mr. Hunnicutt is campaigning in south Georgia this week. He will wind up his campaign with a speech at Sylvester Saturday night, and will then return to Atlanta on Sunday. He has been in the state for more than 100 counties without a single vote. He has been in the state for more than 100 counties without a single vote. ### Charges Harris With Klan Membership and Pro- duces Letter From Mrs. Tyler.

Gainesville, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—Thomas W. Hardwick spoke here today in support of his candidacy for the United States senate. His speech was along the usual lines, but concluded with a summary of the issues of the campaign.

He declared that he had been in the senate, stood for entry into the league of nations without any reservations. He said that he (Hardwick) stood squarely against the proposal, and in opposition to the vote of Mr. Harris.

The speaker declared that he had always stood for the rights of the states, and for local self-government, and that Harris had always stood in opposition to the rights of the states and local self-government, except when he ran away from the question and did not vote at all.

The speaker declared that he stood for economy in public expenditures, for material reduction in appropriation and a consequent reduction of the tax burden.

He declared that Harris, by his rolling tactics, in his efforts to "secure" insignificant appropriations, stood for a constant and continuing increase of appropriations, and an ever-increasing tax burden.

Opposed to Klan.
The speaker declared that he stood opposed to Ku Kluxism in politics; that he had never declared more than two years ago, while he was governor of Georgia, he said he occupied the same position on this matter that Mr. Davis, the democratic nominee for governor, occupied, and that he had taken this position long in advance of the Klan reverses throughout the south in Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

On the other hand Mr. Harris, although challenged repeatedly to do so, refused to declare his position on this matter. He said that he was a member of the Klan, and that he had taken this position long in advance of the Klan reverses throughout the south in Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

He said that he was a member of the Klan, and that he had taken this position long in advance of the Klan reverses throughout the south in Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Coolidge Scores Attempt To Limit Power of Courts

Makes Plea for Abolition of War Hatreds and for Assistance in Restoration of Germany.

Baltimore, Md., September 6.—President Coolidge called upon the American people in a La Fayette day address here today to take a stand against "a deliberate and determined effort" which he said "is being made to break down the guarantees of our fundamental law" through a movement "to limit the jurisdiction of our domestic courts."

Speaking at the unveiling of a statue of La Fayette, the president characterized the great Frenchman as "a true son of world freedom," and asserted that "this occasion is dedicated to freedom."

"The question," he declared, "whether America will allow itself to be degraded into a communist and socialist state or whether it will remain America, the land of freedom, to continue to enjoy the high estate of American citizenship will resist all attempts to encroach upon their liberties by encroaching upon power of the courts."

NUXATED IRON

WEAK NERVES AND THIN BLOOD

RUIN HEALTH OF THOUSANDS WITHOUT THEIR EVER SUSPECTING THE REAL CAUSE OF THEIR TROUBLE—IRON STARVATION.

An enormous number of people who ought to be strong, vigorous and in the prime of life are constantly complaining of weak nerves, headaches, pains across the back, disturbed digestion, nervousness, breath, palpitation of the heart, a general run-down condition, melancholy, bad memory, etc., all as a result of iron starvation of the blood.

There are 30,000,000,000 red blood corpuscles in your blood and each one must have iron. Without iron your blood loses its power to change food into living cells and tissue, and nothing you eat does you the proper amount of good—you do not get the full strength out of it and as a consequence you become greatly weakened both in body and mind.

If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Then take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained.

Over 4,000,000 people are using Nuxated Iron. It will not injure the teeth, it does not disturb the stomach, it is organic iron like the iron in your blood. Like the iron in spinach, lettuce, and apples, it is the iron which people usually take. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturer if you do not obtain satisfactory results. Look for the word "Nuxated" on every package and the letters N. I. on every tablet. Sold by all druggists.—(adv.)

WOMAN'S SPECIALIST

Remedies may come and remedies may go in one long fleeting procession and are soon forgotten; but Dr. Pierce's wonderful herbal remedies have steadily endured for over fifty years and are as popular today as half a century ago, a splendid record, indeed.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, when a young and rising physician in Pennsylvania, learned the secrets of Nature's healing; he noticed the effect of certain herbs that regulate the disorders of women, also that the Indian women passed easily through motherhood, and, using the same herbs and roots, he compounded an unequalled remedy for women which he called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Thousands of unsolicited testimonials from grateful women bear witness to its healing power. Dr. Pierce's phenomenal success was due to the purity of his medicines and to the confidence he enjoyed as a leading and unimpaired citizen of Buffalo, where he founded the Invalids Hotel, known as a model sanitarium throughout the United States and Canada.

the congress or resort to resistance by force. On the other hand, the legislatures of states and sometimes the people, through the initiative and referendum, may pass laws which are very injurious to the minority residents of that state, by attempting to take away the privileges which they hold under the federal constitution. Except for the courts, such a minority would have no remedy for wrong done them. Their estimate of the supreme court of the United States.

"At a time when all the world is seeking for the adjudication of differences between nations, not by war but by reason, the suggestion that we should limit the jurisdiction of our domestic courts is reactionary in the highest degree. It would cast aside the progress of generations to begin again the contest for supremacy between executive and legislative branches. Which side has won in that struggle, the people have always lost."

"Our constitution has raised certain barriers against too hasty change. I believe such provision is wise. I doubt if there has been any change that has not been desired by the people, which they have not been able to secure. Stability of government is a very important asset. If amendment is made, both revolution and reaction, as well as orderly progress, also become easy. The nation has lost little but has gained much through the process of due deliberation. The pressing need of the present day is not to change our constitutional rights, but to observe our constitutional rights."

"Effort To Break Guarantees. A deliberate and determined effort is being made to break down the guarantees of our fundamental law. It has for its purpose the confiscation of property and the destruction of liberty. At the present time the chief obstacle besides the people to this effort is the supreme court of the United States. In this contest there is but one place for a real American stand. That is on the side of ordered liberty under constitutional government. This is not the struggle of the rich and powerful. They will be able to survive. It is the struggle of the common run of people. Unless we can maintain our institutions of liberty unimpaired, they will see savings swept away, their homes devastated and their children perish from want and hunger."

"The effect these will have in averting war and promoting peace," he added, "cannot possibly be overestimated. They appear to be properly to mark the end of the old order and the beginning of a new era. We hope they are the end of aggressive war and the beginning of permanent peace."

Referring to the European situation, the president declared "if we want France and the other allies paid, we can best work towards that end by assisting in the restoration of the German people, now shorn of militarism, to their full place in the family of peaceful mankind."

Lauds Supreme Court. Speaking again of the supreme court, as well as of the entire system of independent judiciary, Mr. Coolidge said its establishment through the constitution was "one of the great contributions which America made to the science of government."

"That tribunal," he continued, "in speaking specifically of the supreme court, 'has been made as independent and impartial as human nature could devise. This action was taken with the sole purpose of protecting the freedom of the individual, of guarding his earnings, his home, his life. It is frequently charged that this tribunal is tyrannical. The constitution of the United States is tyrannical; if the rule that no one shall be convicted of crime save by a jury of his peers; that no orders of nobility shall be granted; that slavery shall not be permitted to exist in any state or territory; that no one shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law; if these and many other provisions made by the people be tyrannical, then the supreme court when it makes decisions in accordance with these principles of our fundamental law is tyrannical. Otherwise, it is exercising the power of government for the preservation of liberty. That is the source of our freedom. Maintaining it, interpreting it and declaring it, are the only methods by which the constitution can be preserved and our liberties guaranteed."

"Somewhere must be lodged the power to declare the constitution. If it be taken away from the court, it must go either to the executive or the legislative branch of the government. No one, so far as I know, has thought that it should go to the executive. All those who advocate change of power, I believe, that it should be transferred in whole or in part to the congress. I have a very high regard for legislative assemblies. We have put a very great emphasis upon representative government. It is the only method by which due deliberation can be secured. That is a great safeguard of liberty. But the legislature is not judicial. Along with what are admitted to be the merits of the question, also what is supposed to be the popular demand and the greatest partisan advantage weigh very heavily in making legislative decisions. It is well known that when the house of representatives sits as a judicial body, to determine contested elections, it has a tendency to decide in a partisan way. It is to be remembered also that under recent political practice there is a strong tendency for legislatures to be much influenced by the executive. Whether we like this practice or not, there is no use denying that it exists. With a dominant executive and a subservient legislature, the opportunity would be very inviting to aggrandize the executive and to curtail the liberties of the people. That way leads toward imperialism."

Purpose of Restraints. "Some people do not seem to understand fully the purpose of our constitutional restraints. They are not for protecting the majority either in or out of congress. They can protect themselves with their votes. We have adopted a written constitution in order that the minority, even down to the most insignificant individual, might have his rights protected. So long as our constitution remains in force, no majority, no matter how large, can deprive the individual of the right of life, liberty or property, or prohibit the free exercise of religion or the free speech of the press. If the authority now vested in the supreme court were transferred to the congress any majority, no matter how large, could vote away any of these most precious rights. Majorities are notoriously irresponsible. After irreparable damage had been done they would be the privilege of trying to defeat such a majority at the next election. Every minority body that has any voice in its source or in its power in the public estimation, also nearly every race and religious belief, would find themselves practically without protection, if the authority of the supreme court should be broken down and its powers lodged with the congress."

"The same reasoning that applies to the individual person applies to the individual state. A very broad twilight zone exists in which it is difficult to distinguish where state rights end and federal rights begin. Deprived of the privilege of its day in court, each state would be compelled to submit to the elections of Europe. We must help them as they are, if we are to help them at all. I believe that we should help, not at the sacrifice of our independence, not for the support of imperialism, not to restore to those great peoples a peaceful civilization. In that course lies the best guarantee of freedom. In that course lies the greatest honor which we can bestow upon the memory of La Fayette."

MADDOO TO TAKE STUMP FOR DAVIS

Washington, September 6.—William Gibbs McAdoo, one of the chief contenders in the New York convention for the democratic presidential nomination, will begin a speaking campaign for John W. Davis as soon as he lands in New York from his European visit. A request from Mr. McAdoo, received today by the democratic national committee, asked that speaking engagements be made across the continent for him beginning immediately upon his return to this country, expected September 22.

At the same time the national headquarters announced that William Jennings Bryan had accepted engagements for speaking in the west and northwestern states.

Other speakers soon to take the stump and for whom the committee is preparing schedules include: Newton D. Baker, Governor Alfred E. Smith, Josephus Daniels, Bainbridge Colby, E. T. Meredith and many democratic senators.

Glen Shaver, chairman of the national committee and campaign manager for Mr. Davis, said today it was indicated by present plans that the presidential nominee would not visit California or other of the Pacific coast states.

Managua, Nicaragua, September 6. Many of both sides were slain in the fighting between Honduran rebel and government forces near Santa Barbara Thursday which resulted in a rebel victory; say dispatches received here. The government troops were forced to abandon the town, closely pursued by the rebels.

The dispatches add that a repetition of the attack on Tegucigalpa, the capital, similar to the one which occurred during the last revolt, is feared. The communications to the Pacific coast are said to be held by the rebels.

A dispatch from Tegucigalpa last night said a ten-day armistice had been agreed upon in consequence of efforts made by American Charge d'Affaires Morgan.

Washington, September 6.—The city of San Pedro, Sula, Honduras, has been occupied by 500 troops of the provisional government, according to a dispatch received today in official circles. The situation in Honduras was described as "generally alarming."

POPULAR ATLANTIAN OPENS MUSIC STORE

Jimmy Finley, well-known young Atlantan, has returned from a trip to New York where he purchased a large and complete line of the latest problem which has a universality of one thing that all the people in this country, no matter where they live or in what occupation they engage, demand is an honest and upright government. And the great issue which Governor Bryan and myself hope to put before the American people in this campaign is honesty in government; honesty in thought; honesty in deed.

Welcomed By Bryan.

Mr. Davis arrived here early today from Chicago and was escorted immediately to a hotel where he met a number of leaders and where a few hours later he was formally welcomed to Nebraska by Governor Bryan, who came over by train from the state capital at Lincoln. It was the first time the president and vice presidential candidates had met since immediately after the New York convention at which they were nominated.

Governor Bryan was a speaker at the stock yards, the luncheon and the auditorium and he accompanied Mr. Davis and members of his official party to a baseball game in the afternoon. Mr. Bryan had the same escort from the station and was taken immediately to Mr. Davis' temporary headquarters.

"How are you, Governor?" asked Mr. Davis. "I am glad to see you."

Governor Bryan replied as warmly as he shook hands vigorously with the party standard bearer.

Picturesque Crowd.

Soon afterwards Mr. Davis and the governor and a large party proceeded by automobile to the stock yards where they spoke under what at least to Mr. Davis was an unusual and picturesque setting.

The rotunda and balcony of the exchange building were crowded with men and women. In the audience was a large sprinkling of cowboys wearing the broad-brimmed hats of the western plains. There was a loud cheer and waving of hats as the candidates made their way to the stairway from which they spoke.

Returning to their hotel from the stock yards, the democratic presidential and vice presidential candidates again appeared together at the luncheon and again received an enthusiastic greeting.

Former United States Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, of Omaha, presided and besides Mr. Davis and Governor Bryan, the speakers were Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, and Representative Cordell Hull, of Tennessee, who have charge of arrangements on the western trip.

After the ceremonies at the auditorium tonight Mr. Davis and Governor Bryan departed for Lincoln, where the presidential candidate will be the guest of the governor tomorrow before proceeding to Denver, where he is to arrive Monday and where on Wednesday night he will deliver the second address of his western campaign.

WEST ASKS NO FAVOR IN LAWS, SAYS BRYAN.

Omaha, Neb., September 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—Governor Bryan, the democratic nominee for president, in welcoming John W. Davis, the presidential candidate, to the middle west, said that the people of the agricultural sections "ask for no special legislation," but they are always ready and willing to cooperate in every honorable way in hoisting the standard of democracy in an effort to establish that great Jeffersonian principle of equal rights to all and special privileges to none.

"It is the people of this great agricultural section, commencing with the farmers and extending through the line of business and profession," he said, "who first felt the appalling effects of this national administration when it came into power four years ago." Now, he added, the "good people from these agricultural states are asked by the national republican candidates to wait until experts can report on some means of relief."

"These experts," Governor Bryan asserted, "are not expected to report until after election. The republican plan takes the investigation out of the hands of senators and congressmen whom the farmers select and puts it into the hands of the commission selected by the president."

He added that the president's commission "may report that the farmer has no right to complain, that legislation cannot help him or that a high tariff will save him from his costs."

After outlining tax reforms brought about in Nebraska and praising the democratic party's record for "honesty and economy," the governor said that he felt sure that the message of Mr. Davis to the farmers, stock raisers and the common people of the prairie would leave a profound impression upon them, but he may feel assured of their support in his desire to remove the republican handicaps of the past four years.

The president, he continued, will select experts "whom he trusts, not experts whom the farmer trusts."

He added that the president's commission "may report that the farmer has no right to complain, that legislation cannot help him or that a high tariff will save him from his costs."

After outlining tax reforms brought about in Nebraska and praising the democratic party's record for "honesty and economy," the governor said that he felt sure that the message of Mr. Davis to the farmers, stock raisers and the common people of the prairie would leave a profound impression upon them, but he may feel assured of their support in his desire to remove the republican handicaps of the past four years.

WEST ASKS NO FAVOR IN LAWS, SAYS BRYAN.

Omaha, Neb., September 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—Governor Bryan, the democratic nominee for president, in welcoming John W. Davis, the presidential candidate, to the middle west, said that the people of the agricultural sections "ask for no special legislation," but they are always ready and willing to cooperate in every honorable way in hoisting the standard of democracy in an effort to establish that great Jeffersonian principle of equal rights to all and special privileges to none.

"It is the people of this great agricultural section, commencing with the farmers and extending through the line of business and profession," he said, "who first felt the appalling effects of this national administration when it came into power four years ago." Now, he added, the "good people from these agricultural states are asked by the national republican candidates to wait until experts can report on some means of relief."

"Are experts selected by the president," Mr. Bryan asked, "more to be trusted than the representatives selected by the farmers themselves?"

ZR-3 Will Bring First Air Mail Across Atlantic

Washington, September 6.—The first regular trans-Atlantic air mail will be brought from Germany to the United States on the new airship, ZR-3. When the ship arrives at Lakehurst, N. J., American postal officials will be on hand to receive a large quantity of specially forwarded mail and expedite the transmission of the letters and post cards to their destination.

German postal authorities have issued a special series of air mail postage stamps and aerial post cards for the trans-Atlantic flight. Stamps of 5, 10, 20, 100, 200 and 500 pennings and post cards of 50 pennings have been issued. The rate for the cross-ocean air trip has been placed at 1.50 mark for letters of 20 grams or less, and 50 pennings for post cards. All letters and post cards carried by the ZR-3 will be specially marked. In addition to bearing the special air mail postage stamps with the German inscription "Sent by air ship ZR-3," American postal officials have been informed by the German authorities that probably 250 pounds of ordinary letters and post cards will be aboard the ZR-3.

STOCKBRIDGE HEADS 122D INFANTRY PLANS

Basil Stockbridge, well-known young Atlanta attorney and veteran of a number of decisive battles in the late

world war, is at the head of plans for participation of the 122d Infantry, "Atlanta's Own" regiment, Georgia national guard in "Defence Day" celebration.

When the regiment was allotted to Atlanta early in March of this year the young attorney was influenced to accept a commission as captain and was assigned as adjutant of the regiment. He served in the world war as adjutant for many months at Camp Wheeler, at Macon, and later commander of a battalion of the 329th Infantry, with the expeditionary forces in France, in which he participated in a number of important engagements and was highly praised for his tactics and ability to handle men.

When Colonel Charles H. Cox, present adjutant general of Georgia, accepted command of the newly organized 122d Infantry, his first effort was to secure a competent adjutant, a person capable of handling the volume of details in an infantry regiment and one capable of assuming much of the burden of the commanding officer. He prevailed upon Captain Stockbridge to accept the appointment.

During the early weeks of the regiment the adjutant's work was extremely heavy and necessarily fraught with many things upon which judgment had to be exercised with care and the wishes, many times, of the commanding officer anticipated. Captain Stockbridge's work elicited high praise of the regiment and during the recent camp on St. Simons Island the office of the adjutant functioned with machine-like precision.

Captain Stockbridge's legal training has served him in good stead, it is pointed out, and has given him the alertness of mind and the ability to think and act quickly. Since March he has given much of his time to the promotion and training of the regiment, in addition to keeping up his law practice.

ATLANTES AFTER VISIT FROM ZR-3 LATER IN AUTUMN

Governor Clifford Walker, Congressman W. D. Upshaw and Gordon Lee, of Georgia, and Congressman A. L. Bulwinkle, of North Carolina, the Athens chamber of commerce, the Richmond chamber of commerce, and the Atlanta Retail Merchants' association have joined in the movement started by the Atlantes to have the navy department send the ZR-3 to Atlanta on one of its demonstration flights.

W. T. Dobney, business manager of the Richmond chamber of commerce, writes that Senator Claude A. Swanson, minority ranking member of the senate committee on naval affairs, is aiding in the plan. Governor Walker states that the movement has his hearty endorsement and that he has taken the matter up direct with the secretary of the navy.

Joel A. Weir, president of the Athens chamber of commerce, has appointed a special committee, composed of M. N. Tutwiler, Will Erwin and Will King Meadows, to cooperate with the other civic organizations of the southeast interested in the movement, with a special view to having Atlantes included in the itinerary of the ZR-3 if it makes the trip to Atlanta this fall.

City Smoke Inspector Helps in Reducing Waste

"The factory chimney belching smoke, once an illustration of thrift and industry, is now considered an illustration of waste, extravagance, negligence and a community of restless humans low in health," was the statement made Saturday by A. W. Jones, city smoke inspector of the sanitary department of Atlanta.

Pointing out that excessive smoke is certain evidence of waste in the use of fuel, Mr. Jones stated that his department was ready at all times to answer calls from factories or homes, in order to remedy errors in firing, and to answer all questions regarding the burning of fuel, its economy or waste.

He also points out that the department frequently answers calls from merchants whose goods are being injured by soot, smoke or dirt from nearby chimneys. Persons desiring the services of the department should call the city hall and ask for the sanitary or health department, or call the police department at the home of the smoke inspector, whose telephone is West 0824.

Mr. Jones asserts that a call in regard to a nearby chimney involves no hardship upon the owner of the chimney, as an investigation of excessive smoke discharges invariably discloses a waste and attendant unnecessary expense, thus performing a service for the chimney owner in showing how he can reduce his expenses.

"At this time of year," said Mr. Jones, "we are a little late to make large changes or get boilers in shape for the winter. The proper time for this is always when the boiler is shut down in the spring, and before laying off the men who have handled the boiler or plant during the past season, otherwise, if a small plant and new men have to take up the work, they probably take the boiler or plant where the others have left off and get it under way for the winter. This is a bad practice, which, if carried out in the future, will call for a city ordinance similar to one in the city of Tampa, Fla., which makes it compulsory to have all plants ready for city inspection soon after shutting down. If this means so much for Tampa it must mean considerably more for our city.

Rules to Follow.

"At present the rules laid down should be followed:

"Have chimneys swept out by a competent chimney sweep. If you do not know of one we know of many and are ready to give you the addresses, so there will be no delay. Make all repairs to furnaces now. The heating departments of this city are already crowded to the limit, thus it falls to us to advise home work to a large extent. Repair all air leakage to chimneys and in brick work of boiler settings. These can be tested with a 1-cent tallow candle. Draft should be under the grates, not through the brick work around chimneys and stove pipe. See that dampers are in working order. This is the throttle valve to your boiler, and acts as a stop to the unnecessary use of fuel when the grates have their proper thickness in fuel, preventing excess air and lowering steam.

"We throw away enough fuel each day in Atlanta in pure carbon from improper use of fuel to run the city power plant. We discard burnable trash with large heat units, more than enough to run our city crematory. We are ready to tell you how this can be saved and burned at your home.

Get Right Man.

"Don't hire a fireman to run your plant unless he understands this work and is licensed under the laws of Fulton county. It does not pay you to give him extra work and take his attention on other matters. He will have to pile on many times more fuel than is necessary in order to carry out your orders, wash or repair your car, press clothes and run errands. This unnecessary fuel adds to your waste and discomfort to others. Coal can only be burned in a certain proportion owing to size of plant and draft available. When you add too much, smoldering results and constant smoke, soot and waste. A good fireman can do wonders in lessening the smoke nuisance if he gives constant attention to his firing.

"We are answering calls right now," continued Mr. Jones, "from the largest stores in Atlanta where we have been shown the highest grades of goods that are being ruined with soot and smoke which gets into the rooms of the tightest windows. Also answering calls where we have found sick children, where windows have had to be kept shut, keeping out the fresh air necessary for the child's welfare, and one case where a good lady has had to ask that the boiler of a neighbor be more properly taken care of when she has guests during the afternoon in her private home.

"In every case I have found that very manufacturer wishes to assist his neighbor. Every one of them, to a man, who I have visited, wish to cause no annoyance to his neighbor and is ready to assist this cause but is apparently helpless in not knowing what to do. We are not asking the manager or engineer or owner to come to our office where we lay down certain things, and take up his time, probably stopping his production to a certain extent. We go to him, and are willing to wait till he can see us. I have been in some cases five times before reaching the proper man and getting started on the right road to less smoke and fuel."
